Nation Honors All Who Fought Wars

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, himself a Navy combat veteran, today honors hundreds of thousands of Americans who died in war and more than 22 million living veterans.

Kennedy arranged to lead the nation's 10th Veterans Day celebration by laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery.

The ceremony was set for 11 a.m. (EST), the hour the guns stopped firing along World War I's Western Front just 45 years ago.

Gen. Shoup Speaks

Gen. David M. Shoup, retiring Marine commandant who won the Medal of Honor in World War II, was chosen to deliver the chief address after Kennedy lays the traditional wreath before an honor guard from all the services.

In his brief prepared speech, Shoup deplored that although man has made great strides in science and space he "has not yet learned to live in enduring peace with his fellow men."

Must Stay Alert

But, the Marine leader cautioned:

"We cannot practice the deception that somehow, without alertness and conscious effort on our part, an everlasting peace may develop which will abolish for all time man's oldest plague—war."

Shoup said "the invisible spirit of these thousands of gallant Americans" buried in Arlington have this hope:

"That some day there will be a meeting at the summit which shall become as everlastingly important to humanity as the Sermon on the Mount."

Once Armistice Day

Once known as Armistice Day because it commemorated the end of World War I, the holiday was broadened in 1954 to honor those who fought in all the nation's wars.

According to official figures, there are 22,127,000 living U.S. war veterans—including 23 men in their 90s who fought in the Indian wars of the West.

Kennedy, who still suffers the effects of a back injury he suffered in the Pacific in World War II, planned to come to Arlington from a weekend in the country.

Driver Is Facing 175 Days in Jail On Traffic Counts

A driver, booked on three charges after one of three city traffic mishaps over the weekend, drew jail sentences along with fines in city court today.

Robert Duncan, 20, of 6 Morgan Street, Poughkeepsie, after the car he drove, police said, struck another on Broadway near Newkirk Avenue late Saturday night, was charged with driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident, and driving without a license.

Must Pay or Do Time

Duncan pleaded guilty before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman this morning, was given the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 20 days in jail on the charge of driving while intoxicated, plus a sentence of three months in jail, he was given the choice of paying $100 or spending 20 days in jail on the charge of leaving the scene, plus 30 days in jail, and $25 or five days on the license charge, plus 10 days in jail. The fines were not paid.

Police said the sedan driven by Duncan continued on Broadway after it struck the car of Robert E. Grunewald, 29, of 35 Tietjen Avenue, parked near 176 Broadway at about 11:25 p.m. Saturday. Duncan was stopped by Officer Harry Short near the Trailways bus terminal on Central Broadway.

A report at 12:30 a.m. Sunday said the car of Julius Vertetis, of 199 Greenkill Avenue, parked on that street near Wilbur Avenue, was struck and damaged by a car which did not stop. Officer Otto Short investigated.

Accident Uptown

A two-car accident was reported at 8:45 p.m. Sunday at North Front Street and Washington Avenue. Lenore Hutton, 40, of RD 5, Box 359, Kingston, who suffered a back injury, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Kingston Hospital. She was in the car of Ralph J. Hutton Sr., 46, of the same address. Police said a car driven by Max Wunderlich, of RD 4, Box 322, Highland, maneuvering from a parking position, backed into the Hutton car. Officer George Deyo investigated.

Photos Show Raid On Cuban Refugees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A slow-moving, unarmed Coast Guard patrol plane defied guns trained on it by Cuban militiamen and scored a major propaganda victory over the Fidel Castro regime.

Photographs taken by the crew of the twin-engine amphibious plane showed the world a Cuban-raiding party kidnapping 19 refugees from Anguilla Cay, a desolate British island 40 miles off Cuba's north coast.

Use Russian Equipment

Photos showed a Russian-built helicopter on the ground and two Russian-made PT-type boats speeding from the island with the refugees aboard. One photo showed three men in one boat with their automatic rifles aimed at the U.S. aircraft.

Central Hudson Acquires Land For Expansion

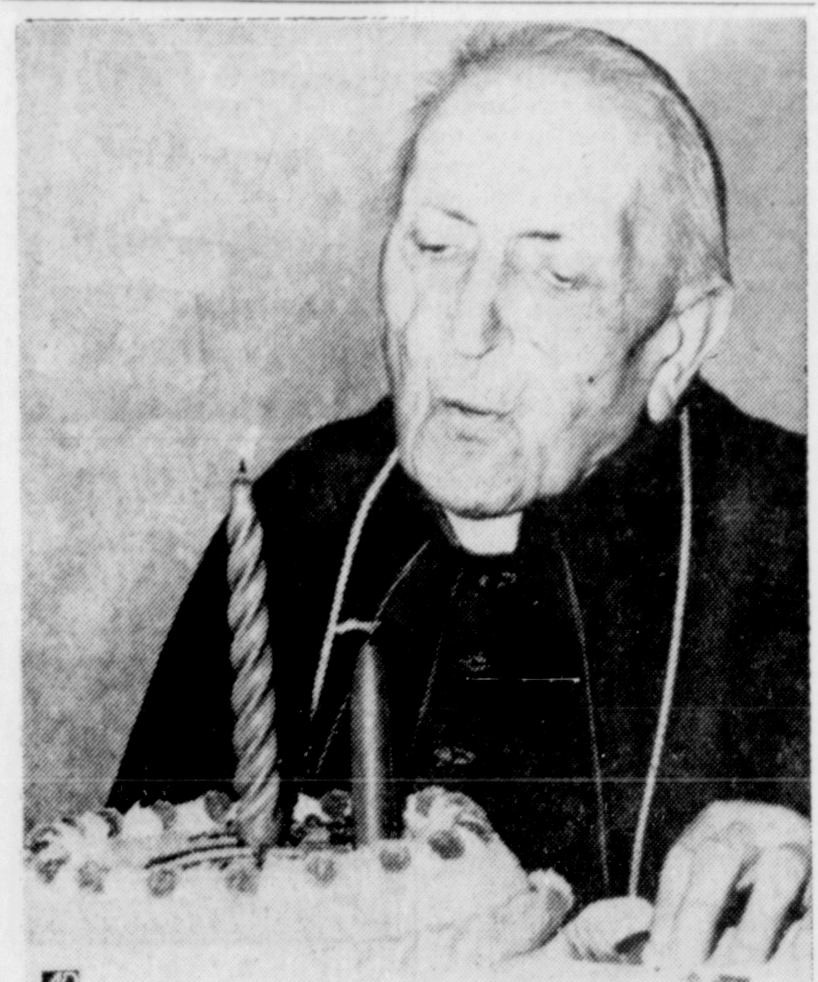

An option to purchase about 660 acres in the Breakneck Mountain area overlooking the Hudson River south of Beacon, has been exercised by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. Title is expected to be taken later this month.

Lelan F. Sillin Jr., an executive of the corporation, said the property will be used for future development of a large pump-storage hydroelectric project. The property is presently owned by the estate of the late Joel O'D. Cornish.

Sillin, president of the Central Hudson, called the Breakneck project a major capital investment which will benefit the people of the state while providing a new and important source of electric power.

In the Breakneck project, electric energy generated at steam plants during hours of low customer consumption, would be used to pump water from the Hudson River through a tunnel into a reservoir constructed at high elevation.

At times of high customer demand, the water in the reservoir would be released to flow back to the river through the tunnel and through the hydroelectric turbines driving generators to produce electricity.

An 18-year-old Kingston youth was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County jail on charges of speeding and failure to comply with a command of a police officer, after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert Sledge, town of Ulster.

Allen Carney of 18 Alcazar Street, city, was booked by Troopers G. W. Zappalo and Jack R. Ostmark. The youth was charged with driving 90 miles an hour in a 550-mile-an-hour zone on Route 9W, driving 50 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Man Who Sounded End of WW1 Will Blow Bugle Today

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—The man who blew the bugle to mark the end of World War I, Hartley B. Edwards, was to sound taps today in Tyler's Veteran's Day observance.

Edwards still uses the same bugle that, as a member of Gen. John J. Pershing's private drum and bugle corps, he played as he stood beneath the Arc de Triomphe in Paris at 11 a.m. 45 years ago when the armistice was signed by the allies and Germans went into effect.

7-Day Rain Helps All Of State

3.03 Inches Noted At City Reservoir

Rain, which splattered New York State today for the seventh straight day, had left 3.03 inches in the Cooper Lake area up to 8 a.m. today.

A near record in the state for November, the rain brought the city's main reservoir from 6.8 feet below spillway level to 5½ feet by today, Clifford Carnright, reservoir operator reported.

More Rain Expected

More rain hangs in the offing, the Associated Press said. It reported today's rain generally light in the state, and says the Weather Bureau foresees no danger of floods, because the thirsty earth, dry all last month, quickly absorbed the moisture.

Showers were forecast for Tuesday in some sections, and a coastal storm climbing up from the south could deliver more rain Wednesday.

Records at Albany

The record number of consecutive rainy days in November for the Albany area is eight days, in 1879, the Weather Bureau reported. The all-year record is 12 days in March 1951.

Actually, the current rainy period began last Monday in western New York, where clear skies graced Buffalo this morning. The rain became general last Tuesday. Most of the state had well over an inch last week, and parts of the southeast had more than four inches.

Much of the time, the fall has been light. The greatest amount reported for Sunday and Sunday night was Buffalo's half an inch. Nearly half an inch fell on Syracuse and Plattsburgh.

The Weather Bureau predicted showers Tuesday in Northern and Western New York and partly cloudy skies elsewhere.

Uptown Stores Are Keeping Open on Mondays to 9 P. M.

Most of the stores in the Kingston uptown business area will remain open until 9 o'clock every Monday night until Christmas, beginning today.

George Svirsky, president of the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association, commenting on the action taken by Association members, stated that in order that additional time may be had by shoppers of the Mid-Hudson area, many of the merchants would observe the late shopping hours on Monday until Christmas.

"The decision to keep stores open on Monday night earlier in November, was made to give shoppers additional time to shop in Kingston stores at a leisurely pace."

The plan to remain open on Monday nights will give people much more time to do their Christmas shopping while lines are complete. Most of the stores have received their Christmas stocks and the late opening on Mondays will give an opportunity for more enjoyable and more comfortable shopping," Pres. Svirsky said.

Dedicate VFW Hall, Memorial to Heroes

The importance of a concentrated effort on the part of veterans to promote rights and benefits "which you justly deserve" was stressed at the dedication of a new hall by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, here Saturday night.

More than 200 members of the post and its Auxiliary, and friends heard Joseph Gumo, of Nassau County, adjutant of the Department of New York State, speak at a dinner in the new hall on Delaware Avenue.

Denotes Sacrifices

"Your new hall is a commitment to the men responsible for it," the speaker said, "and it and your posthome form a monument to remind the people of the sacrifices made by men in arms to preserve the freedom of the nation."

County Judge Raymond J. Mino, a member of the post, as toastmaster, introduced other speakers, Mayor John Schwank, Commander Gilbert Williams, L. Robert Scanlon, Building Committee chairman and the Rev. Edward J. Kelly, chaplain of Benedictine Hospital, a retired U. S. Navy lieutenant commander, a veteran of World War II.

The hall, a 40 by 60-foot building with all modern facilities is built of concrete blocks and its value according to bids of contractors is $85,000. Contributed material and labor, however, meant the veterans were relieved of some monetary obligations. It seats 250 people.

Must Have Strong Voice

Adjutant Gumo's important points were that veterans need to be organized and have a strong voice in pressing and retaining their rights and benefits, which is paramount to keeping the nation strong and free for them and their families and the survivors of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the nation's wars.

The home of the VFW is the former William D. Brinnier estate.

President Ikeda Is Pressured

2 Leftist Parties To Conduct Probe

TOKYO (AP)—Leftist cries of government neglect and the smell of funeral incense hung heavily over Japan today as bereaved families arranged services for more than 600 persons killed in a coal mine explosion and triple train crash.

Socialist and Democratic Socialist politicians seized on the double disaster as a major campaign issue in national parliamentary elections only 10 days off.

Charge One-Sided Policy

The leftists held Premier Hayato Ikeda's conservative government responsible for the tragedies, charging the accidents resulted from the government's "one-sided policy to protect monopolistic capitalist classes" at the expense of workers' lives.

The coal dust explosion in the mine at Omuta, on the southern island of Kyushu, killed 449 miners, injured about 450 and left 7 unaccounted for, the Mitsui Mining Co. said. Police said, however, they had counted 452 bodies.

The train wreck six hours later and 600 miles to the north killed 162 persons, including William Scott, 28, of Colorado Springs, Colo., who was studying in Tokyo. At least 70 were injured.

Another Wreck Today

Two persons were injured today in another train wreck. A slow-moving passenger train r a m e d another passenger train that had halted half a mile out of the Hiroshima station.

Although the pressure was on Ikeda, the president of Japan National Railways, Reisuke Ishida, said he was accepting full responsibility for Saturday's disaster and would resign.

The pileup near Tokyo was the second three-train crash in 18 months. Japanese rail accidents take an average of 10,000 lives a year.

To Make Own Probe

Both leftist parties announced they would investigate the train and mine accidents independently of the government.

The opposition parties had few concrete issues last month when Ikeda dissolved the lower house of Parliament. He called the election in an attempt to enlarge his Liberal Democratic party's overwhelming majority of 286 seats, compared with a combined opposition total of 154.

Before the tragedies became an issue, the liberal Democrats expressed confidence of winning 300 or more seats in the Nov. 21 election.

Plan New Demands

Mine union officials at Omuta also said they would press for new demands. The Omuta miners and management have a long history of bitter struggles.

$200,000 Gem Theft Reported In NY Apartment

NEW YORK (AP) — A $200,000 gem theft was reported to police Sunday night, two days after the nation's biggest jewel robbery—a badly bungled $3-million stealup here.

Real estate man Emanuel Simon and his wife told police jewelry valued at about $200,000 was taken from a bedroom closet in their East Side Manhattan apartment during the weekend.

The loot included a 24-carat diamond ring that Simon said was worth $35,000. He said he believes almost all of the missing pieces were insured. They belonged to Mrs. Simon.

Police, seeking a more specific figure for what they estimate was a $3-million gem robbery Friday, have asked the victimized jeweler to show up at a precinct station today to give an accurate accounting of the loot.

A band of gunmen, two in police uniforms and three wearing Halloween masks, stopped a jewelry messenger service car carrying six unarmed guards and relieved them of gems plus eight gold bars weighing 15 pounds each.

The messenger service station wagon, found abandoned a few hours later, contained most of the loot, including the gold bars.

Nixon Could Be Darkhorse, Says Ike About 1964

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower sees Richard M. Nixon as a possible darkhorse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

The former U. S. president told a nationwide television audience Sunday:

"Now if there should be one of those deadlocks (at the national convention)... I think he (Nixon) would be one of the likely persons to be examined and approached because he is after all a very knowledgeable and a very courageous type of person."

Nixon, vice president under Eisenhower for eight years, was not available for comment. He has said repeatedly he has no interest in running again for the presidency. He lost to John F. Kennedy three years ago.

Eisenhower noted Nixon's statements of disinterest when he appeared on the American Broadcasting Co.'s "Face the Nation" program.

"I had assumed that he had removed himself completely," Eisenhower said. "Now, if he has changed his mind or even is more receptive, why, all right."

Trooper Ostrmark reported the youth told troopers after he was apprehended following a chase, that his "mind went blank" and that he "had too many points on his license," when asked why he didn't stop when overtaken by troopers.

Carney will appear Tuesday before City Judge Joseph Saccoman on the city violations.

He was sentenced to 30 days in jail on each of the two charges he admitted before Judge Stedje. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Troopers reported the youth had accumulated 10 points on his operator's license through violations this year. Suspension of a license is invoked when an operator has 12 points in an 18-month period.

Probe Burglary Of House Trailer At Freight House

Local police were asked today to investigate a house trailer burglary near the West Shore Railroad freight house this morning, and a report Sunday noted the theft of money and cigarettes from a car.

A report at 7:55 a. m. today said the house trailer, owned by the Kingston Terminal Warehouse, had been entered and ransacked, but nothing was reported missing. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a door. Officers Harry Short and Gerald Tierney investigated.

Police were told at 1:04 Sunday by a Pinkerton guard at the Benedictine Hospital that $5 in change and cigarettes had been taken from the car of Erving Dole of Saunders Street, Regal Park, while it was parked at the rear of the hospital.

The guard said he had chased three boys to the Twaalfskill golf links, but they got away. Officers Harry Short and Albert Johnson were dispatched to assist, but the boys got away.

Boy Is Injured By Thrown Stone

Stone throwing Sunday, police were told, resulted in injury to a downtown boy and damage to a car windshield.

A report at 4:05 p. m. said Roger Stevenson, 14, of 147 Abel Street, had been hit on the head by a stone thrown from the Rondout Creek Bridge. Two boys, one 13 and the other nine years old, were apprehended and turned over to their parents, the report said.

Donald Reed, of the Sawkill Road, reported his car windshield struck by a stone at about 2:30 p. m. as he drove over the up-town arterial spur. He was near Albany Avenue, he said, when boys near the Struble pond were throwing stones at something. He caught one of the boys, he said, but he denied he was involved.

Robert Tighe, of 58 Roosevelt Avenue, reported Saturday that his car radiator was damaged, apparently with an ice pick, while the car was parked in a lot off Cedar Street.

Hurt in 209 Crash

Two women were injured at 11:55 p. m. Saturday when two cars collided on Route 209 north of Ellenville, according to state police. The vehicles were driven by James Alton, Ellenville, and Rose Huebsch of Livingston Manor. The woman received contusions and abrasions of the head, hands and knees. A passenger in her car, Virginia Davis, also of Livingston Manor, sustained bruises of the face. They were treated at Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Burglars on Spree Through County, Troopers Report

Burglars apparently went on a spree through the county Friday night or early Saturday and smashed their way into several business establishments, which were looted after forced entry.

Trooper David Wachtel of the Kingston sub-station, reported a 15-year-old boy was charged with stealing a power motor from a lawn mower owned by George Adams Jr., of Mt. Marion. The motor was valued at $35. The boy will be petitioned into Family Court.

A forced entry was made at the Dominick Angerane grocery store on Route 44-55 in Highland, and the intruder took $121 from a cash register, troopers said.

Three chain saws valued at $279 were stolen from the Valley Farms Supply on Route 208, Walkkill, sometime Friday night, after intruders forced open a garage door, according to troopers.

Gus Vogt, operator of a service station on Route 9W, Town of Ulster, reported a window was broken on the south side of his station and intruders rifled a cigarette machine and filing cabinet and took about $15 in cash. The office was ransacked.

Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and John McMikie investigated a complaint that someone smashed a side window at Brown's Service Station on Albany Avenue Extension opposite Wallace's store. Stanley Brown, proprietor, told troopers the cigarette and soda vending machines were ransacked and emptied of an undetermined amount of cash.

A watch dog in Noble Garrison's service station on Route 28 at Stony Hollow, apparently thwarted a burglary sometime Friday night. A window was reported broken by the would-be burglar.

Trooper Richard Ryan's state police car bogged down in mud on a back road near Saugerties Sunday, as he was enroute to a house owned by Dorothy Belleron of Newburgh, where a burglary was reported. Troopers said Saugerties Patrolman Edward Sweeney and Trooper Ryan investigated the complaint, which reported windows in the house were broken, the rooms were looted and electric wires were stolen outside the house on Myer's Lane.

Fireman Recovering

Fireman Walter Madajewski, of 40 Second Avenue, who recently underwent an operation for a blood clot at the Albany Medical Center, was reported making satisfactory recovery there today. He was taken Friday to Kingston Hospital and was removed to the Albany hospital Saturday by Doctor's ambulance. The clot affected the left leg.

Firemen Are Kept Busy With Calls On Past Weekend

Firemen checked two fires starting in oil-fired stoves, one in a laundromat, and despite the damp weather, answered a call for burning brush and grass on the Ups-and-Downs over the weekend.

A blaze Sunday originating in a oil-fired living room stove in the third floor apartment of Gladys James, 11 East Strand, damaged the stove, rug and floor, and caused some water damage on the second floor ceiling in the apartment of Richard Boler.

The first floor of the building owned by Louis Alcon, of 136 Lucas Avenue is occupied by Bible Way Church of God. The blaze caused considerable smoke on the third floor.

Units from Central and Cornell stations and the Wicks Company answered a call at 11:45 p. m. with Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholtz in charge.

Space Heater Fire

Another call at 7:56 p. m. Sunday was for a blaze in an oil-fired space heater in the living room of the second-floor apartment of Mrs. Shirley Cotto, 83 Franklin Street. The stove was reported out of adjustment.

The two-story, asbestos covered building, owned by Hilda Novig of New York, is occupied on the first floor by Mary Butler. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, and the Wicks Company, with Capt. Robert Hardwick in charge, answered the call.

Clothing Burns

Laundry owned by Mrs. Louis Naccarato, of 59 Lindsley Avenue, was destroyed in a fire in a drying unit at the East O'Reilly Street Laundromat Inc., 15 East O'Reilly Street, operated by Peter Esposito. Firemen from Central Station, with Deputy Chief George D. Matthews in charge, answered a call at 2:59 p. m.

A call at 1:30 p. m. Sunday was for burning grass and brush on the Ups-and-Downs off West Chestnut Street. Units from Central Station and the Rapid Company responded.

Police were told that three separate fires were in progress, and that two teenagers had been seen running from the area. Officers Harry Short and Albert Johnson, dispatched to investigate, said they stopped two found in the vicinity, but they denied being involved.

Double Disaster

and one union man said: "This is one disaster that's going to lead to big trouble in labor-management relations."

Soviet Communists also seized on the tragedies to accuse the Ikeda government of failing to provide adequate safety regulations. The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia predicted the disasters will "hardly increase the chances of the ruling Liberal Democratic party."

At Omata, a city of 202,000, hardly a family escaped without losing a relative or a friend. Hundreds of funeral services were being conducted in the city's only crematorium and in neighboring towns.

The battle to save the injured continued in primitive Tenryo Hospital, now badly overcrowded.

Blame Short Circuit

The most widely accepted theory was that an electrical short circuit caused a spark that ignited coal dust.

Investigators also sought to determine the cause of a freight train derailment that led to the crash of two other trains 15 miles south of Tokyo.

A packed passenger train speeding toward Tokyo smashed into the derailed freight, leaped the tracks and plowed into another passenger train coming from the opposite direction.

Three American sailors escaped without injury and helped rescue survivors. The sailors, all from California, were fireman Jimmy Bolin of La Bunte; fireman William B. Ullerich of Arleta, and seaman Larry G. Pacheco of Van Nuys.

"Bodies were piled up on the right side of the car four to six deep," Ullerich said. "Bolin, Pacheco and I crawled through the car and started carrying people who seemed to be alive."

Among the dead was Hiroto Saegusa, 71, president of Yokohama City University and a noted philosopher.

Plane Lands Safely At Walkill Field

Search for a plane and its two occupants reported missing by authorities at Westchester County Airport late Sunday night ended after Highland State Police learned the aircraft had landed at Kobelt Field in Walkill.

State Police Sergeant E. E. Winkky of Highland, reported Frank Michaels, 29, of 12 Elder Avenue, New City, a civilian pilot, and John Ragaglia, 36, of 440 South Broadway, Tarrytown, were enroute home from a Sunday flight when they apparently became confused because of heavy rain.

Troopers said Michaels saw the lights on the Hudson bridge and thought they were on the Tappan Zee Bridge, so he radioed the Westchester County Airport for landing clearance.

When the plane didn't land at the Westchester port authorities there notified police in the area and reported the plane "missing."

Meanwhile, Michaels made a safe landing at the Kobelt Field at Walkill.

Urges Resignation Of Poughkeepsie GOP Chairman

Resignation of Robert Stevens, chairman of the City of Poughkeepsie Republican Committee, is urged by Edmund J. Freer, former four-term Republican alderman of the Third Ward in that city.

William V. Welch, incumbent Dutchess County Republican Committee chairman and former city GOP chairman, reportedly rejected the proposal, and said, "I think Stevens did an excellent job to the best of his ability in conducting the campaign." Zuber to Enter N. H. Primaries as an Independent

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Zuber, a Negro leader in the fight against Northern school segregation, has announced he will enter the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary as an independent.

Zuber, an attorney, said at his home in Harlem Sunday night he wants to provide a forum for the expression of Negro views.

During the past five years, Zuber has become an expert in de facto school segregation—created by housing patterns. He has won school integration cases in New York City and New Rochelle, N.Y.; and New Wood and Newark, N.J., and is fighting a similar suit in Chicago.

The 37-year-old Zuber said he will conduct an "education campaign setting forth the Negro's position on civil rights" to New Hampshire voters starting next month.

"No one is better equipped to do this than a Negro, who is more affected by it than anyone else," he said.

Zuber contended that neither Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller nor his prospective rival in the primary, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, is qualified to discuss civil rights.

Zuber, a Republican, said he sees indications of a "serious racial explosion erupting in this country, unless the young Negro is convinced that his just demands are being considered by both major political parties."

He is not being backed by the new Negro civil rights party, Freedom Now.

He said he also will consider entering primaries in West Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois, and California.

A friend gave us this quote: "The bitterness of poor quality remains long after the sweetness of price is forgotten."

and we remembered another truism worth repeating: "In the end result whether we get value and satisfaction, or costly headaches and disappointment, depends greatly on the people who serve us, not just on a tangible product. Those who make any purchase who do not bear this in mind are inviting trouble." Such advice seems so obvious as not to need mentioning, but perhaps we can all use a reminder once in awhile. IMPROVING EDUCATION

Move about the country and you find great interest in improving and expanding education. Governors in many states have this effort high among their programs.

Southern governors especially are eager to broaden their states' educational base as a means of adding much more to the impressive economic gains they have made in recent years.

Some northern states, hurt by the shift from the older basic industries to the newer, science-oriented fields, are trying just as hard to prepare for schooling a better-trained labor force.

Amid all this stir, general attempts to toughen up the American schooling process go forward.

But in the view of Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, regular critic of the U. S. school system, what has been done up to now barely roughs the surface.

He believes that the stress too often, and in too many places, still is on teaching young Americans "how to adjust to life," rather than how to conquer the fields of knowledge.

As proof that we still are not doing the job we should, Rickover says we have on our hands a "mass of young people so deficient in mental and manual skills that no advanced society could provide them all with jobs, except on a charity basis."

By contrast, he notes, Europe has so many well-trained people filling skilled jobs that there is actually a shortage of unskilled labor and it has to be imported.

Rickover feels at least part of the blame must fall on what he calls the "incredible stretchout in American education." European young folk, he says, get at least a third more schooling in a year than ours do.

"Our children sit in class more years," he adds, "because they learn less each year."

To some extent these are matters in dispute, and Rickover has his severe challengers. But few question that, overall, America's is a relatively "soft" educational system.

Worse, perhaps, is the fact that both students and parents have for the most part a "soft" attitude toward schooling. There is not enough deep concern for knowing, for real mastery of knowledge.

It may be somewhat symptomatic that acid ridicule of a great American university can bring thunderous cheers at a political rally. Smirking at those who quest after knowledge has always been, in some measure or other, a lively American sport.

The question is whether we can afford the game any more. In the world of 1963, no prizes are going to those whose only specialties are keeping themselves ignorant and scorning those who are not. A nation thus populated will be neither secure nor well off.

That strained look on a lot of congressmen's faces comes from trying to remember whether they ever had their picture taken in Bobby Baker's night club.

TOO BIG A BOOST

The walloping $10,000-a-year raise proposed in Congress for members of that body does not jibe with the legislators' alleged concern about federal extravagance. Despite this, the proposal is moving along. Though the bill has a long way to go before final passage, approval of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee is too close for comfort.

To take the bite out of this generous treatment of itself, Congress has recommended pay increases for other government officials in both the executive and judicial branches. That may be warranted, but it does not conceal the fact that the proposed congressional pay boost is unreasonably high.

Let the senators and representatives consider industry. Wage earners must be content with raises of from three to five per cent, not the approximately 45 per cent raise congressmen are seeking for themselves.

Legislative salaries are a difficult subject. It would not be fair for the electorate

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

GOLDWATER, NIXON AND FOREIGN POLICY

The persistence with which Republicans who want a "middle" sort of candidate are mentioning the name of Nixon can be explained in two ways, one favorable to Goldwater, one not.

The pro-Goldwater analysis stresses the alleged poverty and lack of omph of an opposition that must turn to somebody who lost two big-time contests, one for the Presidency and one for governor of California, all within the space of two years. According to this line of thought, Romney, Scranton, General Clay and Nelson Rockefeller himself have already been tried and found wanting. So who is left but Nixon as a last, forlorn gasp of desperation?

If this is all there is to the Nixon boom, then the Goldwaterites can count their man in. But the surprising thing is that the name of Nixon is brought forth over and over again in anything but forlorn accents. He is mentioned as a proven campaigner who, after all, was defeated in 1960 by a few doubtful votes. The Nixon fans insist on the positive appeal of their man, and they argue that it could be all the stronger in 1964, because Kennedy, as the "in," will have to defend some shaky policies.

Whether this way of thinking is valid or not, the Goldwaterites had better proceed on the assumption that Nixon is far from being a paper tiger. The man has many things going for him, particularly when it comes to the discussion of foreign policy. No one who has talked with Nixon on the subject of the Cold War, or the troubles of the captive nations of eastern Europe, or the failure of our policies in Cuba and Latin America, can fail to be impressed with the man's detailed knowledge of international affairs. If Kennedy should stumble in his efforts to make "peace" a viable Democratic slogan for 1964, Nixon would assuredly be able to bring every last ounce out of the failure.

This is not to say that Barry Goldwater has a defective grasp of foreign policy matters. But in this particular area he has had the habit of tossing things off with a sentence. One knows what he thinks on a number of things, but one is not aware of the processes of investigation and reasoning that have led to his conclusions.

Both Nixon and Goldwater, one feels sure, have identical opinions about the character of Khrushchev, or the danger of resting any real hopes on the test ban, or the wickedness of letting Fidel Castro get away with his contemptuous anti-U. S. line. But, where Nixon can always point to a "position paper" in the form of an interview, or a speech, or a Saturday Evening Post article to sustain an opinion, Goldwater has had to fall back on a categorical reply.

Bob Taft was in something of the same fix when he was first mentioned for the presidential nomination. Because his record had been made largely on domestic matters, he seemed open to the charge of being an "isolationist" in foreign policy. Of course he was anything but an isolationist, and he eventually got around to publishing a small book on his foreign policy views. It did him no great amount of good, for the Republicans of the Forties and Fifties were in the grip of their "liberal" psychosis and correspondingly anxious to find an unquestioned "liberal" symbol. Goldwater is in a better position than Taft for the simple reason that it is no longer considered, a mark of the beast to be a conservative. But he has yet to "position" himself fully on foreign policy.

There are reports that the Goldwaterites are moving to remedy matters in this area. Some social academicians who do not fall for the "be line" to Khrushchev and he will end the Cold War" are being recruited to provide background for Goldwater if and when he calls for it. These academicians include Dr. Robert Strauss-Hupe of the University of Pennsylvania and Stefan Possony of Stanford University. Their choice has come none too soon, for the Kennedy Administration is currently taking long risks for "peace" all over the world that may or may not result in the real thing.

THE WELL CHILD

Monitor Your Child's Habits of Viewing TV

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Will watching television ruin the health of my children?" is a question frequently asked. Your own parents probably asked the same questions about spending too much time listening to the radio or watching movies.

Fortunately for most normal children, the novelty of any quiet pastime soon wears off. A child has a lot of energy to use up. He won't use it up watching television.

Of course, he may not have a favorite program after supper time. But if he sits and watches for hours at a time either his health is already below par or he has nothing better to do. Most children, however, are resourceful.

You can do a great deal to encourage your child to view the less violent programs, but most children find programs of undiluted violence boring unless they happen to be passing through a brief phase of intense interest in the morbid. You can always help by your example.

On the other hand, your child can have no richer experiences than those brought to him in some of the better educational programs. If you can watch with him he will profit from an experience shared with you. Then, too, you can interpret parts of the program he doesn't quite understand.

Viewing will not hurt your child's eyes if a few simple rules are observed. A large screen is considered better than a small one because it can be easily seen from a distance of 10 feet or more. This minimum is recommended by eye specialists.

Your child should, if possible, sit directly in front of the screen because viewing it from the side produces a distortion that the eyes cannot readily adjust to. The program should be watched in a lighted rather than a dark room.

Television viewing has been known to induce epileptic seizures in children who are epileptic, but it cannot cause epilepsy to develop in a normal child.

Television is here to stay. Your best course is to use it constructively.

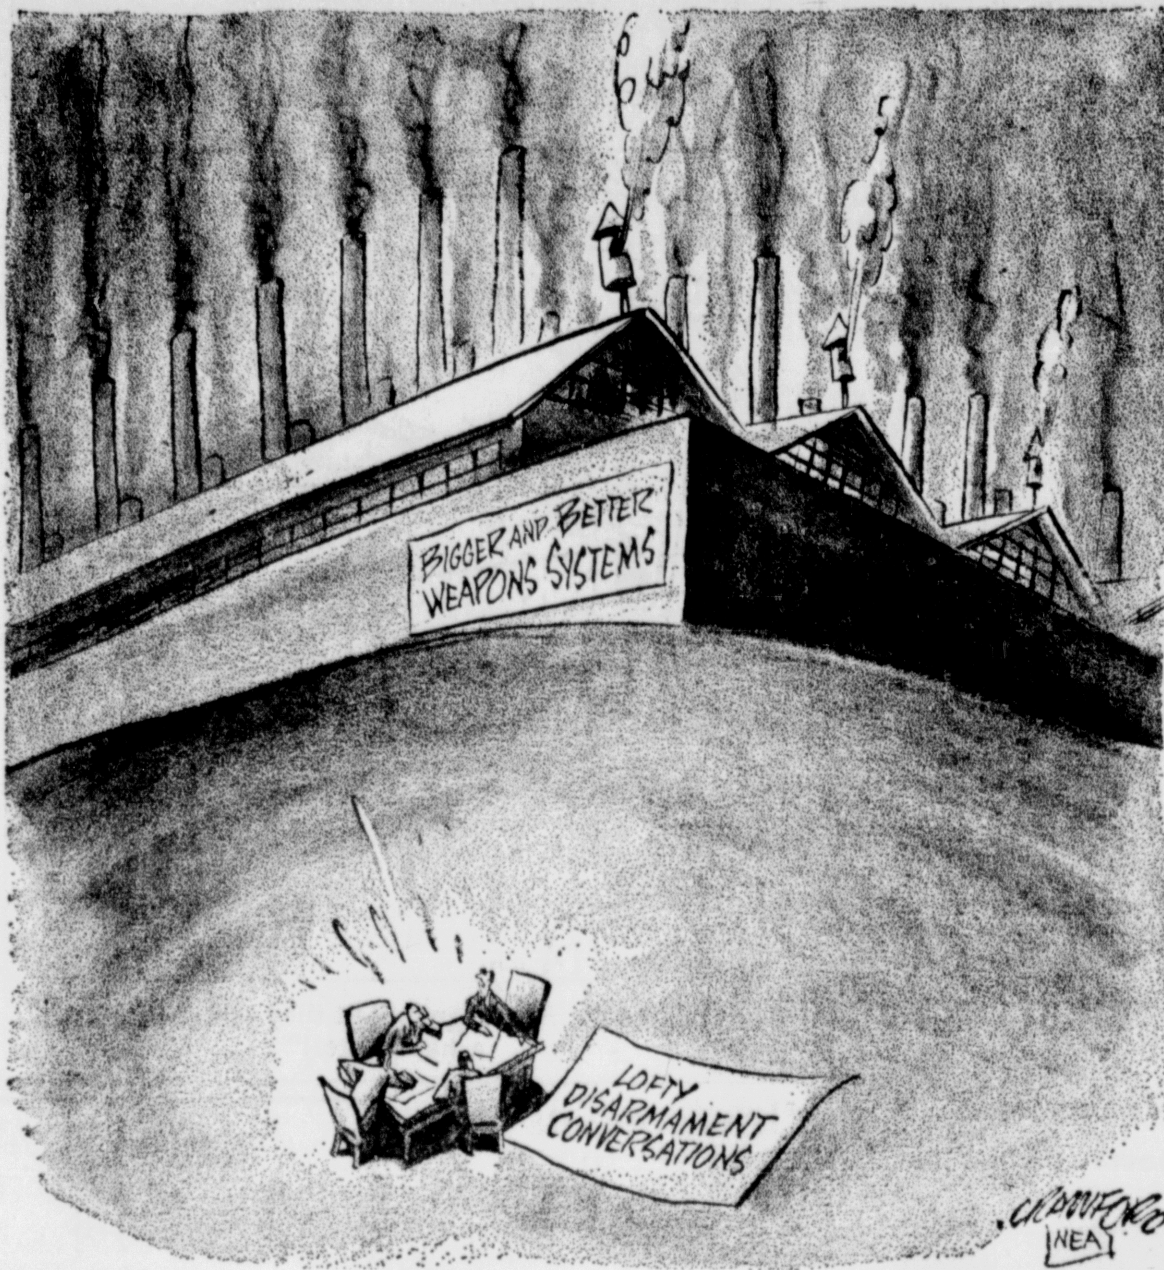

to throw a man out just because he voted himself a pay increase. It is the great size of the currently proposed boost that makes the public hackles rise.

Congress might explore the idea of stipulating that all salary increases of over, say, 10 per cent be limited to the successors of those who vote the boost. That would be tough on perennial holders of office from certain "safe" constituencies, but at least the public's image of Congress would not be damaged as it would certainly be if the present measure went through.

Twenty-one toasts were drunk at the marriage of the two Soviet cosmonauts. That way everyone could be in orbit at once.

Treasury Secretary Dillion wants the debt ceiling lifted to a new high of 315 billion dollars. That's proof enough of the outer-space influence.

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — John F. Kennedy, B.A. Harvard 1940, and a "Havard" Overseer to boot, won't like this.

But when U.S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel, B.A., Harvard 1938, cancelled out on a luncheon talk before the Harvard Club of Washington, some of the loyal alumni muttered, "There goes the Harvard vote to Goldwater."

What happened was that Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., had to cancel out on a speaking engagement at Oregon State. She twisted Keppel's arm to go to Oregon and make the speech for her. Since the congresswoman is an important member of the House Education committee now considering Keppel's legislation for next year, he couldn't refuse.

The speech may help Rep. Green get re-elected and it may save the aid-to-education legislation. But if the national ticket loses in November, '64, the Harvards will know whose fault it was.

ATTY. GEN. Robert Kennedy, after his three-week battle to get the on-again, off-again compromise civil rights bill through the House Judiciary Committee, summed up his feeling with this story:

"Some time ago, I saw two men straining over a heavy crate and a hand truck. It looked as though they needed help, so I took off my coat and pitched in.

"After struggling for about 15 minutes without any luck, we took a break. 'Fellows,' I said, 'I just don't think we're ever going to get this crate onto the truck.'

"Get it on?" they cried.

"We're trying to get it off!"

"That illustrates how I've felt the last three weeks."

AS SEN. BARRY Goldwater, R-Ariz., delivered a luncheon speech before the National Women's Press Club, someone accidentally banged into the keyboard of a piano in the wings. Quick on the draw, the senator fired this shot:

"Damn it! I told Harry to be quiet if he could!"

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, 27th president of the United States, was the first in his family to graduate from Yale and enter politics. A number of his descendants have followed in his footsteps, including his son, the late Ohio senator, Robert A. Taft, and his grandson, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Taft also started the family tradition of vacationing at the Murray Bay Golf Club in Canada's Quebec Province. The Tafts still hold to the tradition, as this story about the president's great-grandson, William Howard Taft IV, illustrates:

Bill was playing the customary excellent Taft round of golf when a stranger approached to ask how long the boy had been playing.

"Well, sir," Bill answered, "I've played here all my life. And my father has been playing here all his life. Before that, my grandfather played all his life. And my great grandfather was president of the Murray Bay Golf Club."

FRED KORTH resigned as Secretary of the Navy while recuperating from an ear operation at the Bethesda Navy Hospital.

A friend asked him about his future plans. Answered Korth: "I guess I'll just have to play it by ear."

SPEAKING AT a dinner commemorating the centennial of free city mail delivery, Postmaster General John Gronouski pointed out that letter carriers always seem to know what is happening before anyone else.

"The scheduling of this dinner is a case in point," Gronouski noted. "The date was set months before I even knew I was going to be postmaster general."

"But the letter carriers must have known. Why else would they have set this great celebration on my birthday?"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It was beyond twilight, almost dark. We left the executive office side of the White House and walked down the curving gravel path toward the gate.

Behind was a young sickle moon, hanging over the executive mansion like a fake. "There's a man in that car ahead," Kelly said. I looked. Automobiles were parked on the left side. Yes, there was a man in one. He got out.

"I thought it was you," he said. I squinted. It was Mr. James Rowley, Chief of the United States Secret Service. He is a man with a good-looking kisser and a sprinkle of frost in dark hair. I said hello, and introduced my wife. "What are you doing here?" I said. He smiled a blarney smile in the dark.

"Just looking around. Hop in. I'll take you where you're going."

"Thanks," I said. "We're staying at the Washington Hotel. It's just around the corner." He opened the door of the dark car. "Good," he said. "Get in and I'll drop you off." We did. Jim Rowley is an old friend. It is impossible to talk to an old friend for a minute. The gaps of time must be bridged. And Rowley is worth any man's conversation because he is a gentleman who never stops studying and learning.

Once, a long time ago, he was an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Then he became a Secret Service man. He drew the White House detail under President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rowley became chief of the White House group under Harry Truman. He was in a little office off the press room in the executive wing for a number of years.

We met when Eisenhower was serving his first term. He was interested in a book that I had written called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." Rowley had studied the book more intensely than I had written it. "I counted them," he said one day. "Fifty odd coincidences that day caused the assassination. If just one of them had happened the other way . . .

Now there is a new President named Kennedy, and Jim Rowley is no longer in the White House detail. He's the chief. He has a nice office in the Treasury Building and he can play the executive. Instead, as night fell, he was sitting in a parked car in the White House driveway watching people go in and come out. It was a chilly evening, and he could have been at home with his lovely wife Mabel and his three girls.

The Secret Service does a lot more than protect the President. It also protects the currency of the U. S. from counterfeiters. Still, its most dramatic duty is to preserve the life of the President. When Roosevelt was in office, the work was wild and woolly because it was a big family of extroverts who might be on three different trains and four planes on any one day going to seven different places.

The President was conscious of his leg braces and Secret Service men huddled around him so that photos of the President, walking painfully and smiling richly were hard to obtain. President Truman was among the easiest of Presidents to protect. He walked anywhere at any time, and his own boldness helped him. No one ever took a shot at him on the street.

Once, he was almost assassinated at Blair House by two wild nationalists from Puerto Rico. At that, he would have been in no danger except that he rushed

Today in National Affairs

The Dagger in the Cloak —And Mr. Otepka's Back

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D., Conn., has achieved a reputation for independent thinking. When he says that the Department of State, in dismissing its Director of Security, used methods that are highly questionable, the country naturally becomes interested, especially since Mr. Dodd himself at one time served in the Federal Bureau of Investigation under J. Edgar Hoover.

The Connecticut Senator told the Senate Tuesday, Nov. 5, that a "serious challenge to responsible government" occurred when Otto Otepka was dismissed by the State Department simply because he had "testified honestly before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security on matters relating to security in the Department if State." He quoted the existing statutes which say that "the right of persons employed in the Civil Service of the United States, either individually or collectively, to petition Congress, or any member thereof, or to furnish information to either house of Congress or to any committee or member thereof, shall not be denied or interfered with."

Sen. Dodd declared that, by its action in the Otepka case, the State Department "has in effect, nullified this statute" and has issued a warning "to all employees that cooperation with the established committees of the Senate, if this cooperation involves testimony considered unpalatable at higher echelon, is a crime punishable by dismissal."

Then came a sensational development. The Senate Internal Security subcommittee released on Nov. 9 letters filed by three State Department officials asking that the record of their testimony be amended and conceding that an eavesdropping device had been placed on the telephone wire in Mr. Otepka's office. Sen. R. L. Hruska, R., Neb., thereupon demanded that the State Department consider dismissing the three men who, he said, had misled the Senate. Immediately after Mr. Hruska's statement, two of the same three men—who have been the principal accusers of Mr. Otepka—were placed on "administrative leave" for the time being by the State Department.

Sen. Dodd, in his initial speech, pointed out that the significance of the Otepka case "cannot be overstated" and added:

"Mr. Otepka was the last old-line security officer holding a top position in the Office of Security. He has been an employee of the United States government for 27 years. He has served as Deputy Director of the Office of Security and Officer in charge of evaluations. His efficiency ratings have always been 'excellent.' In 1958 he received the meritorious service award from Secretary of State Dulles. But suddenly, for some strange reason, certain people in the department decided that Mr. Otepka had to go.

"And so, they began first, to restrict his functions. Then they installed a tap on his telephone. Although a State Department official has denied under oath that this was done, the Subcommittee on Internal Security has proof that the tap was installed. Then they began to monitor Mr. Otepka's burn basket. Then they locked him out of his office and denied him access to his files, although no charge had yet been brought against him.

"No one suspected of espionage or disloyalty has to my knowledge been subjected to such surveillance and humiliation. But Mr. Otepka was not suspected of disloyalty or espionage. He was suspected very simply of cooperating with the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security and of providing it with information that some of his superiors found embarrassing or objectionable."

In many respects this is more important than the alleged scandal that are being investigated on Capitol Hill in domestic affairs, for the whole question of giving security clearance to individuals employed in the Department of State now has been raised in a sensational manner. Sen. Dodd concluded:

"If the dismissal of Mr. Otepka is permitted to stand, it will become impossible or exceedingly difficult to elicit any information from employees of the executive branch that bears on disloyalty, malfeasance, conflict of interest, or other wrongdoing by their superiors."

The Department of State has not made public its detailed reasons for the dismissal of Mr. Otepka, nor has it given a satisfactory explanation to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. But wherever the question of security arises, Congress is naturally on the alert. For there have been too many instances in which employees in the executive branch of the government have been given security clearance and later turned out to be indiscreet in passing out to friends and acquaintances information which eventually reached the Communists.

In a vast organization of employees such as the Federal government maintains today, it is natural that there should be instances of questionable security. But the system which the Department of State has for years maintained is one that has created in Congress confidence in its procedures. The Otepka case has shaken that confidence. And the fact that the current fight for better security is being led by a Northern Democrat, who himself is an expert in security matters, is accepted by other Senators as an indication that the problem is being handled by the Senate in a wholly nonpartisan way.

The Administration has the responsibility of answering to the Senate and to the public just why the methods complained of by Sen. Dodd were used to remove a competent official from the delicate and difficult post of handling security matters in the Department of State.

Then I said goodbye to Jim Rowley. "Do me a favor?" he said. I nodded. "Don't write anything about me. There are a lot of good men—" "There is an old joke," I said, "about an actor who has played Lincoln so many times that people say he won't be happy until he's assassinated." "He didn't think it was funny . . .

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Jobs, prices, profits and business growth plans — all are tied in some degree to the slow but steady whittling down of the nation's idle production capacity.

The gap in recent years between how much of its resources an industry was using and how much it would like to use — almost never 100 per cent, as you might think — has been credited with:

— Holding down prices because of the competition, to the joy of the consumer, but to the frustration of a company plagued by rising operating costs.

Crimping profits in ratio to sales.

Industry Closes Gap

— Keeping business spending more modest than the planners would like if economic growth is to hit a pace that will make enough more jobs to trim the unemployment rolls.

Most industries are closing the gap between activity and the optimum use of the facilities they built in the middle and late 1950s. But some are slipping a little. On the average, industry still has room for improvement.

How much of their capacity various industries are using, compared with the operating rate they prefer is plotted in a survey by McGraw-Hill publishing company's department of economics.

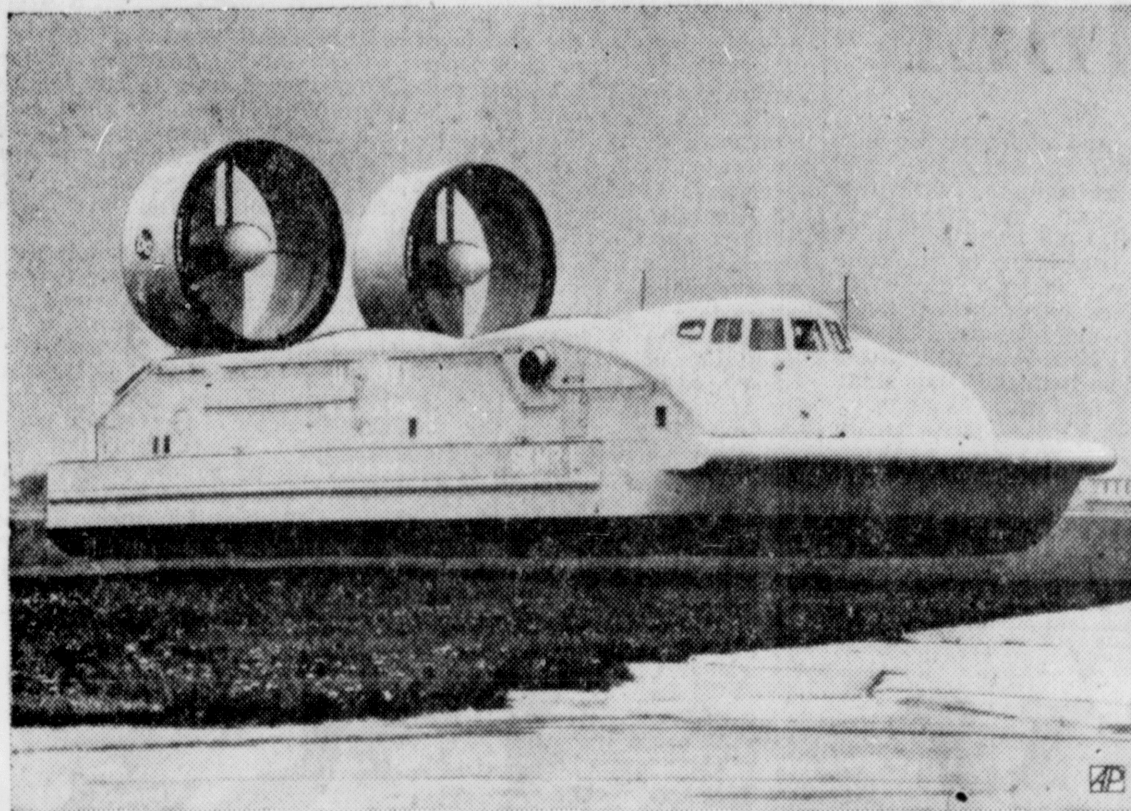

The optimum rate isn't 100 per cent because machines, like people, get the sniffles and have to be repaired or checked, and because the oldest equipment or plant rarely is the most profitable to operate.

The highest preferred rate is 97 per cent, in the paper & pulp industry. Actual usage is 94 per cent, a nice climb from the 89 per cent at the end of 1962.

Textiles, operating at 95 per cent of capacity, are within one point of the most profitable pace of 96 per cent. Petroleum and coal products, at 93 per cent, are crowding the 95 per cent optimum. Autos, trucks and parts have climbed to 90 per cent, against a 96 per cent preferred level.

For all manufacturing the average optimum is 92 per cent and current usage 85 per cent.

Business confidence in boosting sales next year is strong enough to lead manufacturing companies to plan an average addition of 4 per cent to capacity. The survey says this calls for an outlay of $40.7 billion, but the increase over 1963 would be smaller than in recent years. The majority of the spending will be for modernization rather than additional plants.

SHOKAN — Edward Finn, Kingston wholesale salesman and member of the Coach House Players, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country yesterday.

Other Kingstonians here recently included Mr. and Mrs. George Stueb, Main Street. A report from Hancock says the East Branch of the Delaware River prior to the rain of Thursday was at its lowest point since the drought of 1876. New York City's Peapack Reservoir has run over the spillway only three times since the gates were closed three years ago, and three times the reservoir has been empty from the mouth of the Beech Hill stream eastward to Margaretville.

Callers here recently included William P. Batty, Albany Post Road, Buchanan. He makes antique reproductions of chandeliers and wall sconces.

A former resident of the Olive Bridge area and one time pastor of the Tongore Methodist Church, the Rev. Merton S. Cady, was tendered an anniversary dinner at East Jewett in commemoration of his 25 years in the Methodist ministry. His first church was at Fulton, Schoharie County, and he has been serving the Hensonsville, Greene County, charge since 1956. Mrs. Cady is the former Betty Snyder of Olive and the couple's three daughters are Mary Martha, Ruth Anna and Elizabeth Jane Cady.

Mrs. George Tischmacher and son, Robin, of Vega recently spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kittle in Kingston. Birthdays on November 7 included Louis Elefant, Ashokan youth who was born, 1945, at Trenton, N. J., younger son of Joseph and Rose Cohen Elefant. Louis has a brother and a sister in Southern California.

The trio are members of the operating staff at the Volunteers of America store, Broadway and Strand. The Wedges returned to Kingston last September after having been transferred to Portland.

Also in town Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnson of Arkville. A Christian Endeavor Society conference was held recently at the United Presbyterian Church, Margaretville. The occasion marked the first time this eastern regional conference has been held outside the metropolitan New York area. David S. Professor Is Held in Family Deaths

MONTREAL (AP) — Roland Haumont, an assistant professor of French at Harper College, Binghamton, N.Y., is being held as a material witness in the death of his wife and two daughters.

Mrs. Haumont, 44, and her daughters Nicole, 16, and Leslie, 10, were killed in an explosion that leveled their house in the Notre Dame De Grace section of Montreal Oct. 20.

Police reported Saturday that Haumont, 41, had been taken in to custody, pending a coroner's inquest to be held early this week.

The explosion at first was attributed to a gas leak. Police said detectives later came up with other possible explanations. They did not elaborate.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Election in Kingston in the late 1880's according to the Kingston Argus of Feb. 2, 1887 was much different from what it is today. It was said, "The great work of the Whig party was building of log cabins and singing songs. The log cabin in Kingston was built on a lot adjoining the Eagle Hotel," where in 1963 a big hole is being dug to build the "skin and bones" new county office building.

In 1887 election was held for three days, in different parts of the town. People had to wait for days for returns, no telegraph flashed after the polls were closed. Today one sees and hears as it happens, here and abroad with Telstar, radio, TV and read all about it in great detail in the daily papers.

Robert Matthews of 201 East Union Street loaned me a book of billheads of Kingston merchants, going back to 1900 and earlier, some of which I have already mentioned. There is one of the Grand Hotel, Catskill Mts. N. Y. H. E. Eder, Mgr. with an excellent picture. One bill dated March 2, 1914, to Capt. T. B. Anderson from William Hiltbrant, coal dealer, office and yards on Ferry Street. Best grades of soft coal for steaming purposes, and blacksmith coal, also grate, stove, chestnut, egg and pea, and charcoal. He also had, gasoline, automobile and motor boat supplies, lubricating oils, kerosene and greases. A May 8, 1915 bill from William F. Walter, (successor to Recktenwald Bros.) dealer in groceries, teas, coffees, spices, canned goods, imported and domestic cheese etc., at 52 Broadway, near Abeel Street. One item is "1 pie plant, 6 cents. 1 doz. eggs, 25 cents."

There is a Eagle Hotel letterhead, dated Feb. 21, 1904, at which time, A. E. and J. S. Winne, were the proprietors of this famous Kingston hotel, where the county office building is being constructed in 1963. There is an illustrated bill head for Hotel

Eichler, A. Eichler, proprietor, dated 1922. It advised it was "directly opposite the depots of 'West Shore, Ulster and Delaware and Wallkill Valley railroads.'" Mr. Matthews has the letterhead of the "Wm. H. Baldwin" dated Nov. 6, 1906, and it advertised: "dealer in oak, pine and Georgia pine timber. Bill Stuffs sawed to order. Shipyard, steam Marine Dry Dock, steam saw and planing mill, hauling, repairing, New Baltimore, N. Y."

There is an item in the "Public Auction of the steamer Elihu Bunker, to be sold at the Mansion House, on April 15, 1916, at 2 p. m. This sale was for the purpose of settling the estate of Henry Blodgett, deceased. It advised, 'Any person or persons desiring to enter the passenger and freight business will find here an excellent opportunity to provide for himself a first-class steamer, fully equipped and ready to start in business. Willard Blodgett, executor."

Capt. A. E. Anderson of the Mary Powell used to buy in Edward Weber's butcher shop, corner Broadway and Abeel Street back in 1914, according to this bill. Webers sold beef, veal, pork, mutton, lamb, poultry, butter and eggs. They were connected by telephones, and given address in Rondout, N. Y. A. J. Murphy of 12 East Strand, had a stationery and athletic supply store at 12 East Strand back in 1925, according to this bill. Andrew J. Murphy, III, our 1963 Kingston City Director of Recreation is his grandson. More from this interesting collection soon. Carl Weber, pharmacist and proprietor of Weber's Pharmacy, is the son of Edward Weber, and has his pharmacy in Weber's building.

Hollywood News and Views

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Most people have been kind, amazingly kind to us. There have been only a few who seemed intent on giving me a kick in the face at a time when I didn't need a kick in the face."

Yvonne de Carlo was reviewing the events of the past year, a catastrophic one for her family. During the filming of the climactic train fight in "How the West was Won," her stuntman husband Bob Morgan was swept under the wheels. He lingered close to death for weeks.

Gangrene necessitated the amputation of his leg, thereby depriving him of his livelihood. Yvonne spent much of her time at the Phoenix hospital where her husband was taken after the accident. She canceled night club dates in Spain and other engagements.

After a few months their luck began to change. Yvonne accepted a theater date in Chicago for a special purpose. Ever since the accident Bob had been talking about going to Chicago to discuss marketing of a golf device he had dreamed up.

"It gave him something to think about, a goal to achieve," said Yvonne. "My being in Chicago gave him added incentive. And darn if he didn't make it!"

Yvonne got three pictures—"McClintock" with John Wayne, "A Global Affair" with Bob Hope and a Western, "Law for the Lawless." This summer she went to Spain to fulfill her night club dates.

"It went wonderfully well except for one thing," she said. "A French newspaper printed a story that 'ex-movie star Yvonne de Carlo—then stating an age that was ridiculous—has been reduced to doing a strip tease and belly dance at stag affairs in order to support her injured husband and their two children."

"I don't know how on earth they got that. I never talked to anyone of the paper. The only basis they had was a one-minute routine for a costume change in which I do a little spoof on a strip tease."

Urges Legislative Reforms Before Raises in Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-Rochester, says Congress should put its personal affairs in order before considering any pay raises for senators or representatives.

Keating said in a radio and television broadcast aired by New York stations Sunday that he would oppose salary increases until certain legislative reforms were adopted.

A proposal has been made to boost the salary of members of Congress from $22,500 a year to $32,500.

It would be a mistake to do so, Keating said, unless these steps are taken:

1. Service in Congress should be made a full-time job for senators, house members and congressional employees. He said this was imperative in view of the current investigation into the outside business interests of Robert G. Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

2. Legislation should be adopted barring conflicts of interest for members of Congress and congressional employees.

3. There should be a complete revision of what Keating said were the archaic rules and procedures of both houses.

Man Killed, One Hurt While Working on Car

PARSIPPANY-TROY HILLS, N.J. (AP) — A man was killed and another injured seriously Saturday when they were hit by a truck while working on an automobile in front of a garage.

The victim was Walter E. Davies, 42, of Parsippany-Troy Hills. The other man, Otto Gulacsky, was hospitalized and underwent surgery.

Police said the truck driver, identified as Henry Perrine, 21, of Cortland, N.Y., told them a car forced him off the road.

Police said the men were struck while working on Davies' car in front of Gulacsky's auto-repair garage along Route 47.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Fonda, host of Sunday night's NBC special, "That Was The Week That Was," explained that the hour was designed to help the audience "keep your thumb on the nose of the news."

And for 60 minutes a group of talented performers poked fun at just about every topical target in sight, from Charles de Gaulle to debutante parties. Some of the sharpest satirical thrusts were directed at American politics.

A lot of it was very funny, some of it seemed in poor taste, but all of it was intelligent, impudent and irreverent. Usually, what television calls satire is a "spoof" of a TV commercial or an imitation of John F. Kennedy or James Cagney. This was the real thing, and it had bite. There was a lethal sketch about Barry Goldwater and his conservative thoughts, a snide swipe at Nelson A. Rockefeller and even a blackout which went way out and included Thomas E. Dewey.

Perhaps the funniest sketch was done by the marvelous Mike Nichols and Elaine May. Miss May played a "grief lady" selling the services of her es-

Nichols, interested in an inexpensive funeral.

Some shafts went wide of the mark and some should never have been thrown. The show began with a tasteless integration joke. There was a bit about a corrupt mayor which was not funny. Neither was an "interview" with a TV-wise clergyman who used Madison Avenue jargon.

The program strided roughshod into delicate areas, named names, pulled no punches. There will be complaints. But if the preview is well received, we may have such a weekly show next season. It would certainly add some salt and pepper to a rather bland television diet.

Recommended tonight: "Hollywood and the Stars," NBC, 9:30-10 (EST)—departure from its usual format to show how motion pictures groom young performers for stardom.

Mesmerism, a term for hypnosis, is derived from the name of Franz Mesmer, an Austrian physician who popularized the theory of hypnotism in the 18th Century.

Extend Closing of Seaway to Dec. 15

OTTAWA (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway will be kept open as long as possible this winter to enable Canada to make grain shipments under its $500 million wheat deal with the Soviet Union.
Although the official closing dates are Nov. 30 on St. Lawrence River and Dec. 15 on the Welland Canal, the Seaway Authority announced Friday shipping will continue as long as weather and ice conditions permit.
The wheat sale, largest in Canadian history, calls for shipment of 210-million bushels by next July 31. When the deal was closed in September, Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said only Canada's handling capacity was a limiting factor. He said Russia might take more wheat if Canada could complete the contracted shipments before the deadline.

The Seaway Authority also announced the appointment of Peter E. R. Malcolm of Ottawa to the three-member authority. Malcolm, who has been director of administration of the seaway since 1954, fills a vacancy created by the retirement of the late C. W. West in 1960.

UNEASY MONEY

Billions of dollars of uneasy money are ready to flow into the dangerous stock market. Successful speculation feeds upon itself and some share prices go to illogical levels.

It takes only a few dynamic stocks to create an exuberant market. Just as this is written, Chrysler is a bellwether. On the day when the stock split again two for one, subject to the approval of the stockholders, the demand for the shares was so big that trading in them was suspended for more than three hours.

Some 257,900 shares of Chrysler were bought and sold in a single day, and the stock advanced over nine dollars a share in five and a half hours. With over 18,000,000 shares outstanding, the market value of all the shares increased by more than $162,000,000 in a single day.

On the day following this spectacular advance, I personally received over 20 messages from across America asking: "Do you know of another Chrysler?"

American speculators are a volatile crowd. And the significance of their volatility is that they have plenty of money to back their inordinate desire for quick and easy profits.

Xerox, at $350 a share, is a romance equity that has countless speculators mesmerized. The stock is paying $1.00 a share a year, and at $350 the yield is about 1/3 of 1 per cent.

Recently, an investor who is normally conservative, took $3,500 out of a bank paying 4 1/2 per cent a year to buy 10 shares. She surrendered about $149 in dependable interest income to buy a risk-laden stock that under present circumstances will pay her $10 a year.

Syntax is a third romance equity that is developing a big speculative following. During 1963 the stock sold as low as $35 a share. As this is written the stock is $225 a share and every day when the stock advances $10 a share it wins other followers.

I doubt that in any other time in the economic history of America there have been more investors looking for another Chrysler, Xerox, or Syntax than now. This speculative urge is in the very warp and woof of our economic society. And this urge will grow.

Our lines of communication, America's vast dollar supplies, and the psychological urge to make a lot of money quickly—these combine to keep this urge alive and active in many people.

My message to all such people is this: don't forget the fundamental base of all sound investment. It is: dependable income and slow, steady growth from the base of all such investment.

If you must speculate in the romance stocks, determine how much of your money should be placed in them. My suggestion would be from 10 per cent to 30 per cent.

The best savings banks in America are paying 4 1/4 per cent a year. U. S. Government bonds are selling to yield more than 4 per cent to maturity. Sound common stocks carrying growth should be bought to yield a fair return. Most conservative investors should have from 70 per cent to 90 per cent of their money in such places. With the rest of the uneasy money buy the future Chryslers, Xeroxes and Syntaxes.

THE FORUM

(Q)—"All of my stock, worth $50,000, are in a margin account where my debt is $20,000. What should I do?"

S.H.N.

(A) Cut your debt to $10,000 at least and take $15,000 of sound stocks right out of the market.

Take a look at the South hand only. You open one heart and your partner responds one no-trump. What is your rebid?

Two hearts is nice and conservative, four hearts might prove to be a winner. How about two spades? If your partner is likely to respond one no-trump with four spades in his hand, that would be a pretty good choice.

This particular North never made such a response, so South abandoned any idea of a spade rebid and finally settled on three hearts. He intended to pass if North went on to three no-trump, but North had already bid too much and passed.

West's diamond king held the first trick. South ruffed the diamond continuation. By this time you have probably looked at all the hands and have seen that South will make his contract if he attacks either hearts or spades. South couldn't see all the cards. He had to choose the suit to play and he led the king of spades.

South counted nine tricks provided he could make four hearts, one spade and four clubs. He had to knock out the ace of spades sometime or other. He also had to draw trumps, but if he played a spade there was a good chance that the defense would play trumps for him. That is exactly what they did. East took his ace of spades and led a trump to his partner's ace. West returned a trump and South ran off his contract.

Play is important! Helpful tips are contained in "Win at Bridge With Oswald Jacoby." Just send your name, address, and 50 cent to: Oswald Jacoby Reader Service, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Mother Suicides, Takes Life of Girl by Accident

MANLIUS, N. Y. (AP) — A mother took her own life and, in doing so, accidentally killed her 3-year-old daughter as well, authorities say.

State Police and the Onondaga County medical examiner's office reconstructed the tragedy this way:

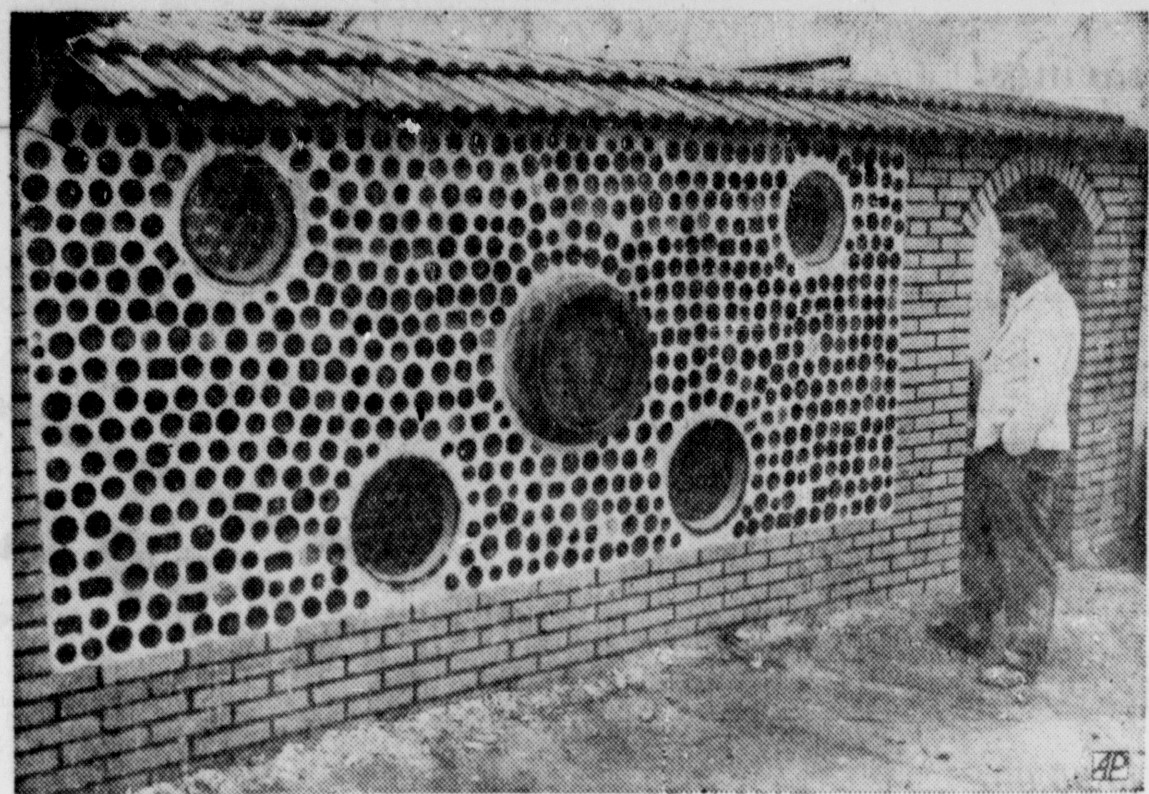

Mrs. Ursula Fleming, 33, started an automobile in the closed garage of her split-level home in this Syracuse suburb Saturday night.

The carbon monoxide fumes that she knew would end her life seeped into a bedroom above the garage where her daughter Maura was asleep.

When the husband, Joel, 34, returned home with his three sons from a hockey game, he found the bodies of his wife and daughter.

Police gave no explanation for the suicide. Friends of the family said Mrs. Fleming had been despondent recently.

Winter fruit bowl; sprinkle slices of orange, apple and pear with sugar and lemon juice; serve topped with coconut.

PUT TO NEW USE — Innkeeper Friedrich Schmitt of Herford, West Germany, stands in front of a brick wall he decorated with bottles. When he found he had difficulty disposing of an accumulation of empty bottles, he solved his problem by using the wall.

For Easy Hauls

Instead of carrying your garbage and trash cans to the curb, pull them on a tray made of a sheet of tempered "Masonite." At front and back rail a strip of lumber. Rope attached to the front wood bumper through screw eyes completes the construction. For easiest pulling, have the smooth side of the hardboard down.

Parents Invited To RVC Program

Students of the Rondout Valley Central High School have invited their parents to attend the annual "Back to School Night" program on Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The personal invitations were written by the students in their English classes and presented to their parents.

Milton Makowsky, president of the P.T.F., will greet the parents and H. Chris Crespi, high school principal, will outline the objectives of the program and the procedure to follow for the evening.

The faculty will be available between 7 and 7:30 for parents who would like to see them on an individual basis. Parents will have to opportunity to follow their child's program in an abbreviated schedule. They will be greeted by class room teachers who will outline the objectives of the course, the academic standards, and what is expected of a student if he hopes to complete the course satisfactorily.

This program has proven to be a successful means for bringing parents and teachers closer together in matters pertaining to a mutual interest—"The education of every child in the Rondout Valley Central School District."

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "We have $2,000 to invest and would like to buy a stock that can give us a little more income while we're alive. We are elderly and not interested in growth. Would St. Joseph Light & Power Company be advisable? You may think this is a trifling question, but we are little people."

A) Please let me assure you that your question is not trifling and that I do not consider any of the readers of this column unimportant.

You have brought to light a good, small, little known issue which yields a well-protected 4 1/2 per cent and has growth pattern as well. St. Joseph Power has shown a rather steady upward in earnings and dividends over the past decade and has more than doubled in price during the period. The company serves St. Joseph, Missouri, and surrounding areas, which comprise a well-balanced territory.

I believe the stock is entirely suitable for your investment.

Q) "I am in my early forties, in the 50 per cent tax bracket. Last winter I bought a large amount of municipal improvement district 5 1/2 per cent tax-exempt bonds at par. Recently, my local bank refused to accept these as collateral for a loan, since they felt they were too speculative. I can sell these bonds now at a profit. Do you think I should sell?" E.D.

A) There have been a number of municipal improvement district bonds sold in recent years. Sometimes these are issued to build roads and sewers and to develop an area so that the land can be sold.

The yield at which you bought your bonds is so far out-of-line with the tax-exempt market that I suspect that they fall into the category I mentioned—in which case they would be speculative. Your bank would not be likely to turn down a man in your position without good reason.

I would accept their conclusion and sell your bonds.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

action by Congress to take care of their needs. They banded together as the Veterans of Foreign Wars to press for their cause.

Must Be on Guard

Cautioning that veterans must be ever watchful that their rights and benefits are not taken away. He cited the abolishing of Mt. MacGregor, a rehabilitation and rest center at Tupper Lake, which used $800,000 out of a total state budget of over $2 billion. "It is there rotting away now," he said.

"Your voice must be strong in your fight," he stressed. "Legislators can take away your rights and benefits with the stroke of a pen."

Gumo cautioned that one of the next steps will be an effort to take away from veterans tax exemptions on real property.

The state is obligated to pay a bonus to Korean War veterans, he declared. "The kids who fought in Korea are entitled to that bonus."

Urges Vote by People

"The people are entitled to decide by referendum," he said. The VFW had 30 bills before the legislature for a referendum, but none of them went through. Gumo said and explained that it takes action by the legislatures of two separate years before there can be a referendum.

"If we are strong in our voice, maybe the legislators will see our way next year."

Must Be Alert Nationally

He called for a strong voice on the national level, too, for a pension with "no strings attached" for a pension for veterans of World War I.

"Billions are going for foreign aid, but charity begins at home," Gumo exclaimed.

Every single dollar for WWI pensions would be spent in the United States and would help the economy of the country, he said.

Sidney Lane, a past commander of the post, welcomed the assemblage and introduced County Judge Mino as toastmaster.

Judge Mino, who joined the post in 1946 after discharge from the army, recalled the days of talking about buying the Brimley property and said he was pleased to have had a part in making the decision to make the purchase with practically no money, just a potential.

He introduced members of the VFW Auxiliary who spoke in a complimentary way about the new addition, the work that made it a reality and hoped for pledge of assistance.

They were Mrs. Richard Fall, president of the Hudson Valley County Council Auxiliary; Mrs. Sidney Lane, conductress of the New York Department Auxiliary; Mrs. Thomas Hughes, president of Post 1386 Auxiliary.

Judge Mino referring to the humble beginning, meeting in insufficient facilities, and trying to hold functions in small quarters, and all were pleased to see the new hall become a reality.

Praises Scanlon

In introducing L. Robert Scanlon, chairman of the building committee, Judge Mino told of his diligent work for the past seven years to make the dream of the hall come true.

Chairman Scanlon, a veteran of World War II, said, "The members of the building committee and I welcome you to the biggest 'do it yourself project' in the Hudson Valley.

"In 1957, Post Commander Vincent Eckert appointed me chairman. My first job was to find a co-chairman to assist and Past Commander William W. Watts was my choice."

"It was impossible for me to be here constantly and in my absence Bill took charge and performed an excellent job."

Done in Two Years

"The actual start of construction took place on Oct. 12, 1961, and two years later our project was completed. We had many trials and tribulations, but we also had the fine cooperation of men to overcome these obstacles."

"One of the greatest contributions was by Local 14, Bricklayers and Masons Union."

"Through the efforts of Michael Mauro, president, and George Nagy, business agent, their members and members from the post our concrete blocks were put in place. As a matter of fact, they laid 4,600 blocks. This was a fine civic gesture on the part of Local 14."

"I would like at this time to extend my thanks and appreciation to all the members and to all non-members who have helped us to make this beautiful addition a reality."

"We realize that during this construction period these men had to spend many hours away from their homes so our many thanks to the families of these men."

"For six years I have looked forward to the time when I could be able to present our post with the key to their new addition."

Handing the key to Commander Williams, Chairman Scanlon said, "On behalf of the building committee, it gives me the greatest pleasure to present this key and may you and the post prosper well in the ensuing years."

History of Progress

A pictorial history of the project as it progressed was displayed in the new hall through the courtesy of dinner chairman Lane, a photographer by profession now with the Commerce Department of New York State.

Congratulatory messages and well wishes for the future were received from two past chaplains, the Rev. James Blane, now of South Bound Brook, N. J., and the Rev. John Murray who has been transferred from St. Peter's Church here to another parish. Both are veterans of World War 2.

Among introduction were those of past commanders of the post, officers of the VFW and Auxiliary from Kingston and surrounding communities, Alderman Donald Tucker, a member of Post 1386, and Miss Julia Joyce, RN, sister of John Joyce, one of the WWI veterans for whom the post is named. The other is George Schirick, brother of Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick. Both were killed in action.

Was Army Nurse

Miss Joyce is a veteran of WWI herself having served as an Army nurse overseas. Reminiscing, she told friends that bond of friendship is a cherished matter among those who served their country and she mentioned about receiving letters from time to time from service men under her care. They are written from all parts of the world.

In retirement, Miss Joyce has returned to Europe and several years ago had the pleasure of an hour's audience with Eamon de Valera, premier of Ireland. He referred to her as "Miss Joyce from Galloway, the birthplace of her ancestors."

Chatting for an hour, Premier de Valera reminisced about New York City and was happy over Miss Joyce's conversation as a nurse at Bellevue Hospital where, he said, his mother was employed at one time.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, happy to participate in the dedication of the hall, returned to the city at 6 p. m. from a five-day vacation to be present with Mrs. Schwenk at the dinner.

Mayor Schwenk said Joyce-Schirick Post and its home with the new hall is a tribute to two brave young men of Kingston, John Joyce and George Schirick.

A veteran of WWI himself, Mayor Schwenk said "I'm proud to be a charter member of the post. I extend to the building committee and members my very best wishes. Your new hall is a tribute to the labors of those who made it a reality."

Introducing Father Kelly, Judge Mino remarked that he has been an Ulster County resident only two months, since becoming chaplain of Benedictine Hospital to replace the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey who has been promoted to pastorates in the Woodstock area.

At first he seemed out of place among the mountains of this sector since he spent a lot of time as a U. S. Navy lieutenant commander. "But, he likes it now the judge emphasized."

Father Kelly said he loved the open sea and didn't know at first whether the country of beautiful mountains was for him. "But I've changed my mind," he observed, "since the kindly reception I received, especially by the patients of Benedictine Hospital."

Assuring that he intended to join Joyce-Schirick Post, Father Kelly said, "I'll like being a friend of all. If I can be of service to you veterans or your families, please call me."

It was a strong opinion among VFW members that Father Kelly would be their next chaplain.

After the dinner there was dancing to music of John Bott's Orchestra.

Other post officers in addition to Williams, are Cornelius Courtney, senior vice commander; Garold Rowe, junior vice commander; Donald Robins, quartermaster, and Clayton Bruck, adjutant.

Make Belly Landing

A Dutchess County man and his 14-year-old son escaped injury Saturday afternoon, when a Beach Bonanza single-engine plane made an unexpected "belly landing" at the Dutchess County airport. Douglas C. Cochrane, Town of LaGrange contractor, reported that he had been making several practice landings and on the final landing the landing gear failed to go down. Cochrane, who was accompanied by his son, Clifford, said damage was slight to the propeller and wing flaps of the plane.

QUELL FIRE AFTER COLLISION—Volunteers of St. Remy and Rifton Fire Companies wet down car which burst into flames following a two-car collision Friday night on Route 213 in Eddyville, in which four persons were injured. Of the four injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance, two were treated and released and two admitted. Reported in fair condition today is Cynthia Aho, 14, of Union Center Road, Ulster Park. Released Sunday was Mrs. Patricia Tienken, 28, also of Ulster

Park. Treated and released at the time of the mishap were Betsy Gulnick, 31, of 33 Furnace Street, and Florence Madden, 54, of Hinsdale Street. Sheriff's deputies Calvert Harvey and Ernest Ahlberg said Mrs. Gulnick was driving north on Route 213 with Mrs. Madden as a passenger, when the wheels of her car jammed, causing it to pull to the opposite lane. They said Mrs. Tienken, driving in the southbound lane with Miss Aho as passenger, was unable to pull over to avoid collision.

chains and a few independent retailers have been observing later hours of Monday nights. Svirsky said, that because of greater consumer demand for additional evening shopping hours as the holiday season approaches, the majority of the Association members would observe the late closing hours on two days of the week, Monday and Friday, during the balance of November.

An announcement as to store hours during the month of December will be made within a few days.

Dekoskie Hit by Car On Whiteport Road

John Dekoskie, 20, of 26 Snyder Avenue, was treated at Benedictine Hospital Saturday and released after he had been struck by an unknown car on Whiteport Road, town of Rosendale. Dekoskie told Deputy Sheriffs John T. Tully and Daniel Levy that he had stepped between two cars near a Whiteport tavern when he was struck by a car, the identity of which he did not know. Dekoskie said the operator stopped, asked if he was alright and on being informed he was, the car proceeded. Later Dekoskie said he felt faint and was taken to Benedictine Hospital where he was treated for abrasions of the hand and released.

Coliseum Death Toll Now 71

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The death toll in the Fairgrounds Coliseum blast—now blamed on leaking gas ignited by a small household heater — has jumped to 71.

Mrs. Cecile Hoffer, 72, Indianapolis, died in Methodist Hospital today of injuries suffered in the explosion. Her husband was killed in the blast.

Mrs. Eleanor M. Ricketts, 81, Indianapolis, died in Methodist Hospital Sunday night of injuries suffered in the Halloween night disaster—the worst in Indiana history.

The woman was one of 385 persons injured in the violent explosion that ripped piano-sized chunks of concrete from a box-seat section and hurled them into the air along with spectators' bodies. A Holiday on Ice revue was beginning its finale when the blast struck.

Charles P. Hill, fire prevention chief, said Sunday that he quid petroleum gas spilling from a tank and ignited by a small heater apparently caused the explosion.

Hill said key pieces to the cause of the blast came from Wilbur W. Gauthier, 54, who directed vendors selling popcorn and soft drinks to the ice show crowd.

Matuljak Loses Court Fight on Suspension Order

The suspension order involving State Police Sgt. Alfred E. Matuljak of Cobleskill, a former station commander at Lake Katrine, was upheld Saturday by the State Supreme Court, the Associated Press reported yesterday.

The report said Sgt. Matuljak, now with Troop G, violated department policy barring troopers from firing warning shots into the air. The incident occurred Sept. 3, 1962 at the State Fair in Syracuse when Sgt. Matuljak spotted someone sneaking into a concession tent. He called to the man joined by another to halt and fired a shot into the air to attract attention of other patrols in the area. One halted, the other fled and was later captured.

Sgt. Matuljak was suspended for five days last November and placed on probation for six months. The order was stayed by Supreme Court Justice Russell G. Hunt pending further study. The decision was handed down on Saturday.

Matuljak was station commander here for about a year and was assigned to Troop G at Loudonville in the spring of 1961. The order forbidding troopers to fire warning shots had been issued June 19, 1962, but was not publicly announced.

26 Die on Highways

County Escapes Weekend Carnage; State Toll Is 31

Ulster County and the immediate area escaped the weekend carnage in which 31 persons in the state were killed in accidents—26 on the highways.

The Associated Press reported that an expectant mother rushing to a hospital, a woman dashing for a bus and a child asleep in her bed were among those on the state's weekend death toll.

Two Die in Fires

Traffic accidents again took the heaviest toll. In the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday, 26 persons met death on the streets and highways, two died in fires and three in other accidents.

Among the traffic victims were Mrs. Geraldine Christian of Brooklyn and Mrs. Mary Nickel of Spencerport, west of Rochester.

The 26-year-old Mrs. Christian, about to give birth, was being rushed to a hospital Sunday when the automobile in which she was riding and another car collided. She was injured fatally, and a Caesarian operation failed to save her child.

In Spencerport Sunday, Mrs. Nickel, 66, ran across the street near her home to catch a bus. She was struck by an automobile and died shortly afterward.

The little girl, killed in sleep, was Maura Fleming, 3. Her mother, Ursula, 33, took her own life Saturday night by running an automobile in the closed garage of their split-level home in Manlius, a Syracuse suburb. But the carbon monoxide fumes seeped through to Maura's bedroom above the garage and ended the child's life as well.

Other accidents, by community:

Niagara Falls — Mrs. Annie Clingersmith, 63, Niagara Falls, hit by a car Friday night.

Whitehall — Mrs. Margery B. Pettis, 42, Whitehall, hit by a tractor-trailer Friday night.

Utica — Hans Wolf, 18, and Edward J. Sharo, 18, both of Utica, their car and a tow truck collided Saturday.

Fonda — Marine Cpl. Lawrence Smullen, age unavailable, Carlisle, his car hit a highway guidpost Saturday.

East Aurora — Lester I. Veley, 26, Holland, car struck a tree Saturday.

Niagara Falls — Mrs. Katherine Henricks, 32, Wilson, two-car collision Friday night.

Rochester — Donald Terranova, 15, Gates, struck by a car Friday night.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

OTEPKA: Two of three State Department officials who have acknowledged that the telephone wiring in Otto F. Otepka's office was rigged for eavesdropping will go on "administrative leave" Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the department has launched an inquiry into the incident and said it will move as promptly as possible. Going on indefinite leave, depending on the termination of the inquiry, a department source said Saturday, are John F. Reilly, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, and Elmer Dewey Hill, chief of the division of technical services in the department's office of security.

They and David I. Beisler, Reilly's special assistant, have told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that wires were connected to Otepka's telephone to permit eavesdropping on conversations.

They also said no actual interception of conversation took place.

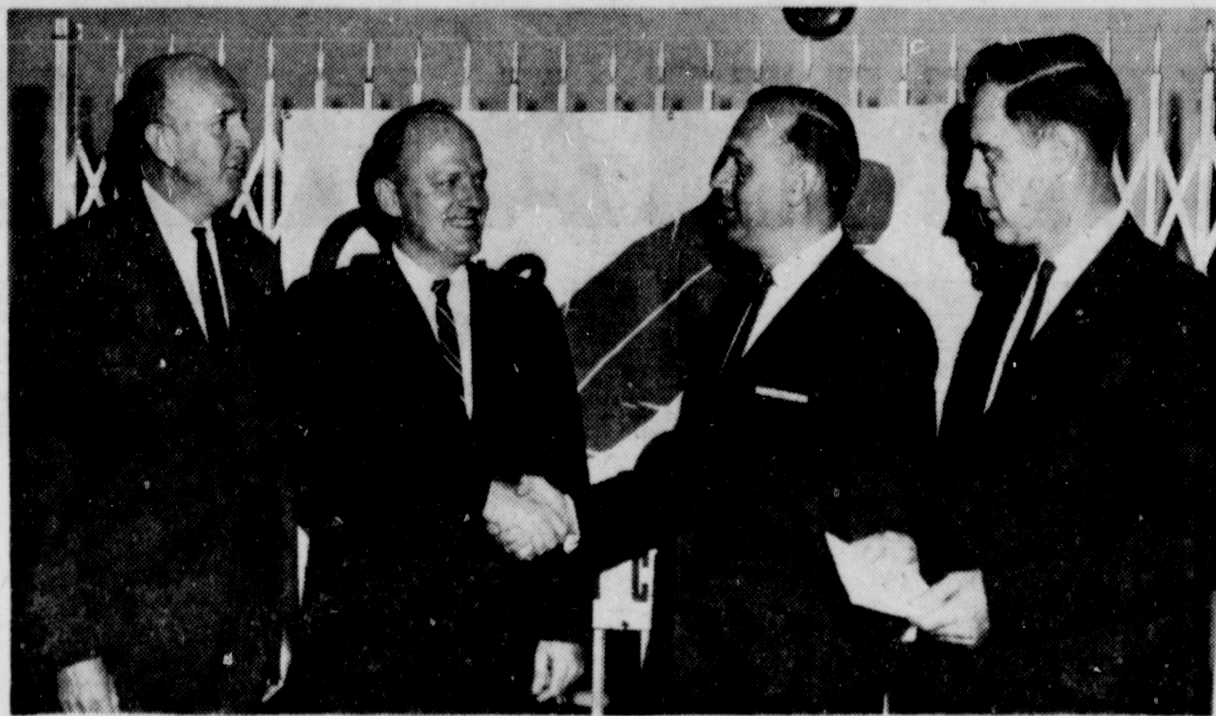

Otepka, a veteran State Department security officer, has been dismissed on charges of unbecoming conduct. Among other things he was accused of supplying the subcommittee with information from confidential employee loyalty files.

PLANE PRICE: It will cost Australia an estimated $125 million to purchase two squadrons of TFX fighter-bombers from the United States.

In calculating the approximate price Sunday, the Defense Department said the Australians will foot part of the development costs as well as production expenses.

The TFX—tactical fighter, experimental—is still on the drawing boards. Australia intends to purchase 24 of the planes, which will carry the designation F111A.

Add lots of sliced pimiento-stuffed olives to tuna fish, dress with mayonnaise, and you'll have a savory sandwich filling.

Fair St. School Parents Program Is Well Attended

Parents' Night at the Fair Street nursery school, held Thursday, was well attended.

Approximately 80 mothers and fathers of the three and four year olds who are registered in the school's four classes, assembled to hear Dr. Joseph Palmer, professor in the Department of Education, Division of Early Childhood, at the New York State University College at New Paltz, speak on the benefits to be derived from good nursery school beginnings for three and four year olds.

Mrs. Frieda Dingee, president of the board of directors of the nursery school, introduced Dr. Palmer, who urged parents not to think of nursery school as a "pressure step" insuring, by some magic, their child's eventual acceptance into college, nor, on the other hand, to feel apologetic that "all they do in nursery school is play."

Play, she pointed out, is characteristic only of those animals with intellectual potential. Play is the means by which they begin to develop that potential—the beginning of learning.

Referring then to the theory of child development by which it is understood that all children move from one developmental stage to another in orderly sequence, she stressed the importance of enriching the early play stage through the facilities of a good nursery school.

Dr. Palmer assured her audience that it was only a matter of time before nursery school would become a part of the regular public school educational program in New York State.

Hunter Under Fire Of Own Rifle Shells

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Neither exploding shells, fire nor a hot seat could keep Elmer Schenk of Trenton, Ohio, from his appointed task of deer hunting in Canada Saturday.

Schenk was driving south of Jackson when he heard a series of explosions. Schenk thought he was under fire. As he pulled to the side of the road he found he was over fire. The seat of his pickup truck was burning.

Firemen said the muffler on Schenk's truck was defective, causing the floorboards to become overheated, and set off some 40 of 100 30-30 rifle shells Schenk had stored under the seat.

Undaunted, Schenk told firemen he planned to continue to Canada.

Paper Discloses Solon's Aid for Stock of Baker

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Sentinel said today that Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., helped an insurance company whose stock Robert G. Baker is reported to have used as a stepping stone to his million-dollar fortune.

In a story from its Washington office, the Sentinel said Byrnes played a part in securing a change in an Internal Revenue Service ruling that "threatened the existence" of the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. (MGIC) of Milwaukee.

Sources in Washington said

Baker bought MGIC stock before it was approved for public sale by the Securities and Exchange Commission, then used it as security to obtain business loans of as much as $300,000.

The Senate Rules Committee is studying Baker's dealings in MGIC stock to initiate its probe of whether Baker, who resigned under fire Oct. 7 as secretary to Senate Democrats, used his position to advance personal business ventures.

The Sentinel said Byrnes introduced legislation in March 1960 to permit MGIC to defer corporation income tax payments so it could place enough profit in reserve to meet the requirements of Wisconsin law. Shortly afterward, the Sentinel said, the IRS issued an administrative order permitting the deferment, making Byrnes' bill unnecessary.

Paul J. Rogan, executive vice president of MGIC and former state insurance commissioner, was quoted by the Sentinel as saying he had asked Byrnes, a long-time friend, to help in getting the rule changed.

The Sentinel quoted Byrnes as saying he was approached by Rogan in December 1959 to look into the matter. Byrnes was quoted by the Sentinel as saying Rogan told him the rule change was "extremely important to the existence" of the mortgage insurance firm.

Byrnes was quoted as saying that on March 10, 1960, he introduced legislation to bring about the change. He said he was notified by the Treasury Department about 15 days later that the bill was unnecessary because the change could be made administratively.

AP President Is Elected Fellow Journal Society

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Paul Miller of Rochester, N.Y., president of the Gannett Newspapers and president of The Associated Press, has been elected a fellow of Sigma Delta Chi, the national society of professional journalists.

Miller was among three publishers elected fellows Saturday, in recognition of their contributions to journalism, at the society's annual convention.

The others are James S. Copley of San Diego, Calif., chairman of the Copley newspapers, and Sol Taishoff of Washington, president, publisher and editor of Broadcasting Publications Inc.

The cinnamon bear is not a separate species but a dark chestnut-colored phase of the common black bear.

FOCUS OF THE FAIR — The Unisphere, 140-foot-high stainless steel representation of the world, is the centerpiece and symbol of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair. The fair is shaping up as one-third of the 646-acre exposition site now is under roof.

Plattekill Opens Sub-station of Highway Dept.

Roland H. Green, Ulster County Superintendent of Highways and Supervisor Joseph Martorana of the Town of Plattekill attended a preview opening of the new Plattekill Sub-Station of the Department of Highways.

The new brick-front building, was started and completed this year, has three large bays that will garage two large snow-plow trucks and one dump truck in addition to storing small tools and equipment. The building is located south of Tucker's Corners on South Street.

Commenting on the opening of the new sub-station in Plattekill, County Superintendent Green said that "this was in line with the policy of the department of maintaining sub-stations for more efficient and economical performance of general maintenance of County Roads and snow and ice control on State highways and county roads.

Supervisor Martorana commented that he was glad to see the location of the new sub-station in the Town of Plattekill and he believed that this would result in better service not only to the people of the Town of Plattekill but to all others in

JFK Notes Close Interest in the Career of Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy says he has followed the career of Gov. Rockefeller, announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, with considerable interest.

Addressing a dinner Friday night of the New York City Protestant Council, he said he regretted that Rockefeller, last year's guest of honor, was not present.

"I have followed his career with more interest than you might imagine. In his quest for the presidency, Gov. Rockefeller follows the example of other distinguished New Yorkers—Wendell Willkie, Thomas Dewey and Mr. (Richard M.) Nixon," Kennedy said.

Willkie, former New York Gov. Dewey, and former Vice President Nixon all were unsuccessful Republican candidates for the presidency. Nixon, a Californian, now has a law practice in New York.

Amid laughter from the diners, Kennedy also said of Rockefeller:

"I wish him some margin of success."

Two in Truck Are Killed at Tracks In Rouses Point

ROUSES POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Two men riding in a pickup truck were killed Sunday in a railroad-crossing collision with the Delaware & Hudson's "Laurentian" passenger train.

No injuries were reported to the passengers or crew of the train, which was bound from Montreal to New York. The damaged locomotive had to be replaced, however, before the train could continue.

The victims were Clement Bedard, 35, father of seven children, and Theodore Hinert, 49, father of three. Both lived in nearby Champlain.

The Laurentian's engineer, John K. Knipe of Troy, said the train was traveling at 70 miles an hour, the speed limit for that section of track.

Fireman Elmer J. Cowen of Mechanicville spotted the truck at the crossing, on a country road near Coopersville.

Knipe slammed on the emergency brakes but the train plowed into the vehicle and, State Police said, carried it about 2,800 feet on the front of the locomotive before coming to a halt.

California Leading In Number of Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among the nation's 50 states, only California has more veterans of United States military service than New York.

The Veterans Administration estimated Sunday night, on the eve of Veterans Day, that there are 22,127,000 military veterans in the United States. Most of them served in World War II.

California leads the nation with 2,361,000 veterans, and New York is a close second with 2,173,000. Illinois ranks third, with 1,335,000.

Alaska has the smallest veteran population — 24,000.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1963. There are 50 days left in the year. Today is Veterans Day.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, World War I came to an end at 11 a.m. after the signing of an armistice near Compiegne, France. In a message to the nation, President Woodrow Wilson declared: "The armistice was signed this morning. Everything for which America fought has been accomplished."

On this date:

In 1776, Maryland's state constitution was established, although it was never submitted to the people for approval.

In 1868, the New York Athletic Club was the scene of the world's first indoor track meet.

In 1889, Washington was admitted to the union as the 42nd state.

In 1941, The Finnish government rejected a U.S. warning to cease fighting Russia after recovering lost territory.

In 1954, the first observance of Veterans Day saw 16,000 persons in New York City become U.S. citizens.

Ten years ago—President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell defended the patriotism of former President Truman in connection with charges made in the Harry Dexter White scandal.

Five years ago — President Arturo Frondizi imposed a state of siege in Argentina and suspended constitutional guarantees for 30 days as part of a national emergency.

One year ago — The Western Pacific island of Guam was hit by Typhoon Karen, which killed six, injured hundreds, and devastated the island.

AVOIDING LUNCHEON GOSSIPERS

Q: Three months ago I started a new job and two of the girls invited me to go to lunch with them. I was delighted that they liked me to join them as I don't like to eat alone. I have found these two girls to be great gossipers and I would rather not lunch with them anymore. The difficult part is that our whole department is supposed to go out at the same hour and these girls take me going with them for granted. Can you suggest a tactful way out of this situation?

A: It would be very pointed to make this change suddenly. However, you might ask another friend outside the office to meet you for lunch once or twice a week and gradually get out of the habit of lunching with the girls in the office. Or if this isn't possible, you could bring your lunch a couple of times a week and eat in the office, explaining to the girls that you are trying to save money.

"And Family"

Q: When an invitation is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. and Family, does this mean every member of the family, including married sons and daughters?

A: An invitation reading "and Family" includes every member of the family living under the same roof. Married daughters and sons who live in their own houses are not included unless they are sent separate invitations.

Inscribing A Memorial Window

Q: When inscribing a stained glass window in memory of someone, should the name be inscribed with title? For example, should it be, "In loving memory of Mary Brown," or "In loving memory of Mrs. Mary Brown?"

A: The memorial window should be inscribed, "In loving memory of Mary Brown," without title.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Eyes that look old...

look young...

in seconds

Some women have old eyes, lost in deep circles. Even the most ingenious use of make-up won't create the illusion of youth as long as these shadows are visible. Now, with the swift magic of John Robert Powers' Crème de la Crème, dark circles are lightened almost out of sight. Ever so little on the tip of a finger stroked gently under the eyes and the shadows give way to clear beauty—smooth, fresh and unflawed. Tube, $3.50 (plus tax).

More ways to beauty with Crème de la Crème

Nose a bit too long? Eyes too deep set? Cheeks too hollow for beauty? Create the illusion of perfection with Crème de la Crème. Tired out? Deep lines making you older than you are? Lighten fatigue lines with Crème de la Crème! (Directions with every tube.)

More Students Going to College

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Why college presidents get grey:

There will be 40 per cent more high school graduates in 1965 than there were in 1963.

A larger percentage of those graduates will go on to college. Ninety percent of the American public believes all boys should go to college, 77 per cent believes all girls should.

National defense and space science threaten to dominate the campus scene, at the expense of the humanities and arts.

These facts, figures and opinions are being discussed at the annual meeting of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. The 97 institutions represented enroll 27 per cent of all the nation's college and university students.

William C. Eckerman of the University of Michigan told the meeting Sunday night a national survey indicates 96 per cent of the public believes a college education is more important now than it was 30 years ago. But, he said, 72 per cent believe the most important thing about such an education is "training for a good job." The next most often quoted reasons for going to college were "social acceptance" and "getting to know the right people."

lieve the most important thing about such an education is "training for a good job." The next most often quoted reasons for going to college were "social acceptance" and "getting to know the right people."

Nights gradually become longer than days in the northern hemisphere after the autumnal equinox. As the earth moves in its orbit, its northern half begins to tilt increasingly away from the sun.

Eateries Must Advise On Dairy Products

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's public eating places were under orders today to comply with a new law that requires them to advise patrons whether they serve genuine cream or dairy substitutes.

The State Agriculture Department said Friday it had found "widespread disregard" of the statute, which was enacted by the 1963 Legislature. The law became effective last July 1.

It requires restaurants, hotels, boarding houses and all other places that serve food to post signs, label containers or insert notices in their menus stating whether they serve genuine cream, cream and milk mixtures or a substitute usually made of vegetable oils.

Violation of the law subjects the offender to a fine of $10 to $100 for the first violation, and a maximum fine of $200 for each subsequent infraction.

ABC Regulations
On Food May be Lifted for Bars

NEW YORK (AP) — A state commission studying the liquor laws has indicated it will urge that bars no longer be required to be ready to serve meals at all hours.

The requirement, written into state law after the repeal of prohibition in 1934, was based on the belief that it would discourage a "saloon" atmosphere where drinks are served and promote moderation.

Former Federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh, chairman of the Moreland Commission, noted Friday at the conclusion of six days of commission hearings that not one of 46 witnesses favored retention of the food requirement.

The chief inspectors of New York City and Nassau County Police Departments testified Friday that policemen generally overlook kitchen violations, if other regulations are observed.

The commission, appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to study the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law, will hold public hearings in Buffalo Nov. 19 and Albany Nov. 22 and plans to report to Rockefeller next month.

Health for All*People Who Like People

You have a lot of people pulling for you when it comes to protecting your health. There are doctors and nurses and hospitals, of course, and also health departments and their staffs and all kinds of different experts in laboratories and pharmaceutical firms and government offices in Washington, to mention a few.

But did you ever think that there are a lot of others — not professional health people—who are also working hard to keep you and your community free from disease? These are people who work for nothing, as volunteers, because they believe in it, because they like people.

Take the voluntary health organizations, for instance. There are quite a number of them, but the Christmas Seal Association is a good example. It's been battling against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases for a good many years now — since 1904, in fact.

And the Christmas Seal Association, like the others of its kind, is made up mostly of people who work — and work hard — for the love of it.

What do they do? A thousand things — all of them necessary and useful. They serve on committees to help solve community problems. They join on boards of directors and make policy. They man a booth at an exhibit and talk to people — or talk as a member of a speakers' bureau, to educate their neighbors about health. They handle the paper work at a school when the children are tuberculin tested. And they help in the all important job of raising funds to get things done.

Your neighbors, volunteers, do plenty — just because they like people. Why not join them?

Reapportionment Debate Could Be One-Sided

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Republican vs. Democratic arguments over legislative reapportionment could be a very one-sided debate when the General Assembly reconvenes Tuesday in Harrisburg.

The key to the situation is whether the GOP can avoid any defections from their slim majority ranks.

They have one more vote than the constitutional majority of 26 in the Senate and three more than the necessary 106 in the House.

The Senate plans to work two days this week and then adjourn possibly until next week.

The House will meet Tuesday then adjourn immediately until after the six new House members are certified by the elections bureau on Nov. 22.

The Democrats realize they are outnumbered in the reapportionment debate. So they caution that anything but a "fair and equitable" realignment may wind up in court.

The GOP Senate membership caucused here last week and came up with a plan which would give new seats to Allegheny, Delaware and Montgomery Counties by lopping off two Republican and one Democratic districts.

If the plan gets approval of the 27-member delegation, it will be introduced Tuesday or Wednesday.

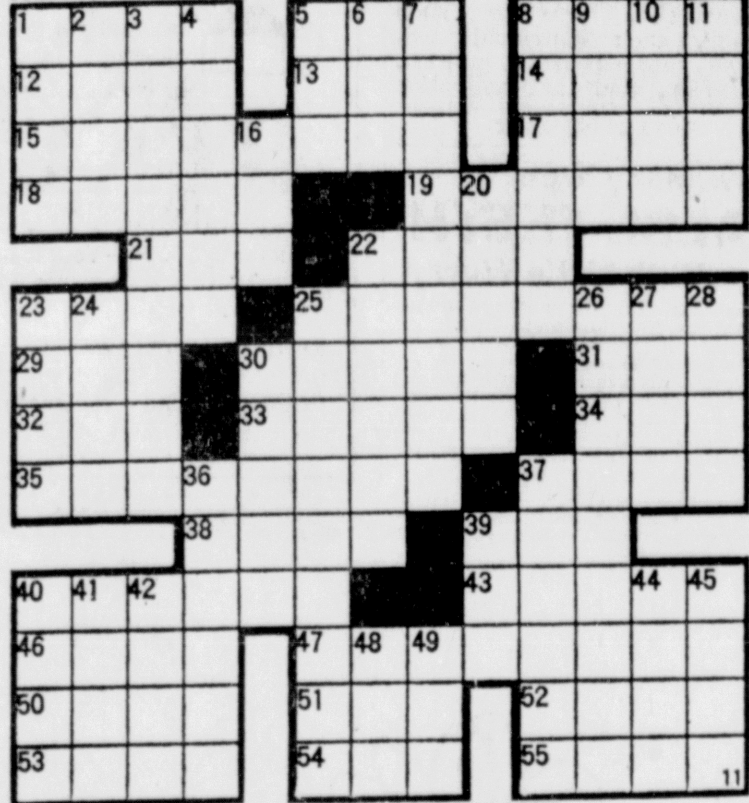

But the Democrats are expected to fight tooth and nail, because the plan will shift two Democrats out of position in Philadelphia and make other changes unpalatable to the minority party.

BANGKOK Thailand (AP)—The Colombo Plan nations opened a ministerial conference on technical and economic cooperation today that may be dominated by the political dispute over Malaysia.

In their opening speeches, however, representatives of the four nations chiefly involved in the dispute — Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines and Britain — made no reference to it.

Behind-the-scenes efforts to get the Philippine and Malaysian delegates together in an attempt to end the diplomatic rift between the two countries awaited the arrival of Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez Tuesday night.

The Philippines wants a reconciliation with Malaysia but first wants assurances that its claim to the Malaysian state of North Borneo will be considered and a procedure agreed upon for settlement of that claim.

Malaysia says the Philippines must first recognize Malaysia before any talks can take place.

GENEVA (AP)—A neutral five-man panel today began a search for a compromise proposal to end the 17-month chicken war between the United States and the European Common Market.

The panel from the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) is trying to determine the amount of damage being done to U.S. export trade in frozen chicken by the Common Market's recent sharp increase in duty.

It also will recommend relief measures — possibly a decrease in the European tariff and an increase in U.S. tariffs on other goods — to compensate for the loss on chickens.

Record Attendance At Railroad Exhibit

With a record-breaking attendance of 433 people on the final day, the 1963 public exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. closed Sunday at 9 p. m.

A club officer revealed that the attendance on the final Sunday run exceeded any previous total in the 26-year history of the club. He also indicated that the overall attendance at the 8-day long show was about average with other years.

For over a quarter of a century the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. has been building and maintaining a quarter-inch scale model railroad system which has been on annual exhibition. Each year many new people visit the layout while familiar faces return annually, said a club official.

Innovation and improvements in the club's railroad system are made each year, with suggestions of show visitors a decisive factor in some of the changes.

30 Days in Jail On Disorderly Charge

A 52-year-old Highland man was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County jail Saturday night, after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd, to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct.

Highland State Police reported Edward Roller, of Route 9W, Highland, was arrested after neighbors complained he fired a shotgun through an open upstairs window at his home. Roller was charged with firing the weapon in a residential section, but the charge was reduced on recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt.

SAUGERTIES NEWS Centerville Man Pays Nuisance Fine on Autobahn

A Town of Saugerties beverage distributor, visiting in Germany Friday, reports his car was halted by East German police on the autobahn to East Berlin and to avoid delay was forced to pay a nuisance speeding fine of five marks, equal to $1.25.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fick of Centerville, who returned home Friday after a six-weeks stay overseas, traveled in a rented car more than 5,900 miles through West Germany, Holland and Denmark.

Fick said they were driving along the autobahn to East Berlin when their car was halted by the East German police who charged them with speeding. The speed limit on the autobahn, Fick said is 100 kilometers and he claims, his car was only doing 80 kilometers at the time. A kilometer is equal to 3,280.8 feet.

Fick, who operates Eveready Beverages Inc., at Centerville, said a fine of five marks was imposed despite his protest. To avoid further delay, he paid the fine which amounted to $1.25 in U.S. currency. He said the East German government evidently was using this means of securing American dollars.

He and his wife said they saw the Berlin Wall and described it as "grotesque." Fick said most of the people in East Berlin were afraid to talk.

While in Munich, they visited the Leuwentrau Brewery. Fick is the distributor in this area for the imported German brew.

Village Curfew Law Meets Third Test on Friday

The 10 p. m. curfew for youngsters under 16 years of age in the Village of Saugerties which was reported successful for three months has reportedly been broken three times.

Village police reported two convictions and the third case will be heard before Village Police Justice G. Thomas Rea Jr. on Friday at 7 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Walton of Kings Village and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitaker of East Bridge Street must appear for reported violations by their sons, both under 16, according to police.

The two boys were picked up by Acting Sgt. Gordon Keeley at 10:15 p. m. Friday. One boy gave false information about his age, police reported.

The second conviction under the curfew law was recorded Friday night when George Donoghue of Glasco Turnpike pleaded guilty before Judge Rea and paid a $25 fine for his son, under 16, who police reported violated the curfew last week.

Earlier this month a Blue Mountain parent paid a $25 fine for permitting her son unattended on the village street after the curfew hour.

Chamber Notes Farm-City Week

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today suggested that all organization make some plans to recognize the importance of agriculture to the economy and general welfare of Ulster County during Farm-City Week, November 22-28.

Nationally, a committee of 150 representing many business, industrial, educational, news and other interests, plan for this observance in the United States and Canada. Kiwanis International serves as the coordinating agency and national headquarters for the ninth consecutive year.

In New York State many Chambers of Commerce are planning to help organize activities and programs designed to bring about a better understanding between rural and urban people. Agriculture should also be recognized for the substantial contribution made to the economy of the entire state.

In Ulster County there has been continuing cooperation by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce with agricultural interests through the Ulster County Fair; the State Horticultural Society with its annual convention in Kingston each January and cooperation with the three departments of the Extension Service.

English as it is spoken in the Orient is not much funnier than English as it is written in the United States. A New York factory recently displayed the sign: "Wanted—Women to sew buttons on the fourth floor." While a near-by tailor advertised: "Fits guaranteed."

She — Darling, your kisses thrill me to the very bottom of my feet.

He—Well, they should. They're soul kisses.

Teen-aged morals are the reflection of the morals of our country at large—and they're not very good.

Arkansas believes in advertising. A furniture store put up this sign: "You Get the Girls and We will Do the Rest." An oculist advises: "Never Rub Your Eyes Except with Your Elbows." A church bulletin said: "The Same Supper that Was Served Last Year for 75 Cents Will Be Given This Year for 50 cents."

Joe College (in court for speeding) — But, Judge, it's simply in me to do everything fast.

Judge—All right, see how fast you can do thirty days.

She—How old do you think I am?

He—Oh, about twenty-one.

She—How did you guess?

He—I didn't; I just counted the rings under your eyes.

SHS Raps Beacon, 13-0, for 31st Straight Grid Victory

Giannotti Scampers 69, Brady Catches TD Pass

Striking for a pair of quick touchdowns in the opening minutes of action, the sensational Sawyers of Saugerties High put their defensive skills to work and whitewashed Beacon 13-0, for their 31st consecutive win and fourth straight DCSL grid title before a packed house of better than 4,000 Saturday at the losers' gridiron.

Quarterback Paul (Boots) Buytkins passed for the first SHS score and Richie Giannotti, finishing a simply astounding high school career galloped 69 yards for the other. He also added an extra point.

As was expected, the fired-up home side clawed and scratched from beginning to finish before finally going under. The Bulldogs were deep in Saugerties territory on three different occasions in the second half as the partisan home fans hoped for the finish of the longest winning streak in the state.

Guard Dick Maines, one of the bright spots of the rugged forward wall, pounced on a Beacon fumble after the kickoff and the visitors of coach Fred Seither had possession on the Bulldog 20.

Pass to Brady

Buytkins unlimbered his pitching arm, hitting Kane for a first down on the 10. Giannotti then banged his way to the six before Buytkins tossed to Brady with the scoring shot. Giannotti made the seventh point by banging up the middle.

Another key defensive play—this time by halfback Al Gentner—led to the second SHS score. The halfback swiped an errant pass on the 28 and brought it back to the 46.

A clipping infraction moved the Bulldogs to the 31. From there, Mr. Giannotti gave a sample of his change of pace style of running. He took a hand-off and was apparently trapped near the 40. Richie just spun around, headed the other way and was gone. He left the defenders far upfield.

Recover a Fumble

Coach Jim Anderson's squad moved to the SHS 14 in the third quarter after blocking a punt. A fumble was recovered by the winners to stall that threat.

Later in the stanza, Mickey Reed of Beacon pounced on a loose ball on the Sawyer 15. The Bulldogs moved the pigskin to the eight but were stopped again by the stout defense of the visitors.

Midway through the final period, the home side had one more burst. A couple of good runs blended with some sharp passing moved the Bulldogs to the SHS four. However, cracks at the line and an attempted pass failed to produce the score. The champions had turned back the final challenge and were now home free.

Aside from the scoring burst by Giannotti, this was a game in which the Sawyers had to grind out the yardage in short resistance up front and completely halted the high scoring offense of the visitors after those opening touchdowns.

Just Another Game

The defensive heroics on the part of the Bulldogs couldn't match those of the visitors, who reacted to the pressure of the streak as if they were playing just another game.

Anchored by Chuck Schirmer, the line was simply great, especially in key situations. The secondary must get some of the accolades for intercepting three passes. Add the three fumbles the Sawyers recovered and you can see why they completed their fourth successive season without a setback.

It's getting to be an old story and it will have to be continued next season.

Blanda Passes Oilers to Win, 31-27, Over Jets

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was George Blanda's week to throw to his teammates.

The veteran quarterback of the Houston Oilers escaped without an interception while completing 19 passes against the New York Jets, and added a vital field goal in a 31-27 Houston victory Sunday.

The week before, the Boston Patriots had intercepted six passes thrown by Blanda, slaughtered the Oilers 45-3, and moved into a first place tie in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

The Oilers moved back out front alone with a 64 yard, as the Pats were dropped by the San Diego Chargers 7-6 in the other AFL Sunday game. Boston is 5-5.

Bills Now Second

Buffalo jumped into second place with a 5-41 slate, after a 27-17 victory over Denver Saturday night. The Bills have won five of their last six after a dismal start.

The Oakland Raiders handed the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs their fifth straight loss, 27-7, in a Friday night game.

The Oilers-Jets game was a wild one, with four touchdowns—two by each team—in the last four minutes.

Rookie Bill Baird ran 93 yards on a punt return with 3:40 left in the game to put the Jets in front 21-17. The Oilers struck back for two touchdowns to take the game back.

Bill Tobin carried over from the four for one touchdown, his third of the game, and Blanda threw seven yards to Charley Hennigan for the other. The Jets got one touchdown back, but tried for a two-point conversion and failed.

Ray's Trounce Chevies, 104-54

Ray's Tackle Shop buried Byrne Chevies, 104-54, in the biggest scoring session of the YMCA "A" fall basketball league schedule. It wasn't too difficult as the Chevies floored four players and John Doe.

Ray's used only five players and all hit in double figures. Ronnie Scheffel led with 29. Marty Kaye added 26 and Chick Boice hit 24. Al Brown paced Byrnes with 18 points.

Local Eleven Captures 46th Straight Win

Kingston Sport Club steam-rolled the Schenectady Sons of Italy, 10 to 1, for its 46th consecutive Central New York Soccer Association victory, Sunday at Schenectady.

Tony Fitzharris, Harry Baqual and Al Miller collected two goals apiece. The other Kingston scores went to Sloan Northrup, Carlo Bustamante, Peter Fuschsen and Lee Roberts.

The home booters averted a shutout with a goal at the 58-minute mark. Manager Bob Graves came off the bench to do a spectacular job as Sport Club goalie.

The ease with which Kingston overpowered Schenectady indicates the Sport Club is razor sharp for its U. S. Amateur Cup series match with the Greek-American Reserves of the powerful German-American League of New York City next Sunday at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field.

The scoring timetable for the Sport Club follows: 5 minutes, Al Miller; 11 min., Tony Fitzharris; 20 min., Fitzharris; 30 min., Northrup; 32 min., Al Miller; 46 min., Bustamante; 58 min., Baqual; 66 min., Roberts; 71 min., Baqual; 76 min., Fuschsen.

Middletown Trounces Kingston, 26-6, in DUSO Struggle

BACK BREAKER—Tom Auringer, Kingston High fullback is shown starting his 62 yard punt return which was the turning point in the game against Middletown. The touchdown was called back because of a penalty and the Middies went on to record a 26-6 DUSO triumph. (Freeman photo).

Bill Barnes Snags 4 Scoring Passes for MHS

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Bill Barnes, a lanky sophomore, who plays the "lonesome" end position on the Middletown High Football team, played catch with the Middie quarterbacks as the deflated defending champions walloped Kingston, 26-6 in a DUSO engagement Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Barnes set a Middletown one-game scoring record by catching touchdown passes of 18 and 42 yards in the second quarter and two for 26 and 19 yards in the third period, giving him a total of 24 points for the afternoon. This airborne attack snapped a six-game losing streak and gave the Middies their initial victory of the season. It was the fourth loss for coach Bill Hurley's gridders and dropped the Maroon players into the league cellar.

As was the case in five previous games this season, the locals scored first. End John Sexton caught a 32 yard scoring toss from quarterback Al Gruner in the opening moments of play.

Touchdown Called Back
Moments later, a 62 yard punt runback by Tom Auringer, which would have given the home side a two touchdown margin, was called back because the Middie kicker was roughed. From there, it was all downhill for the locals, thanks to Mr. Barnes, who looked like a small sized Del Shofner. It took the Maroon eleven only six plays to score the first time they received the pigskin. Auringer ran a Middie punt from the 32 to the 47.

A pass interference penalty was a key play in the drive, climaxed when Gruner hit Sexton on the five with a pass. John ambled into the end zone for the first score of the dreary afternoon. Gruner's quarterback sneak for the PAT was short of the end zone.

Just four plays later, the visitors kicked again. Auringer took the pigskin on the 38, cut for the left sideline and went all the way. However, the flag had been dropped because of roughing the kicker and the Middies had another chance. They took complete charge after that.

A Blocked Punt
Late in the session, Gruner's attempted punt was blocked and the visitors recovered on the KHS 35. They scored in seven plays with reserve quarterback Bob Scott throwing 18 yards and the lonesome end was all by himself in the end zone just as he was at the line of scrimmage. Tackle Butch Warnke split the uprights with his extra point attempt.

With time running out in the first half, the Middie took over on their 37 and went 63 yards in six plays. Pete Annis, who throws left-handed, aimed one to Barnes. The big end made a neat fake towards the line and then went straight for the end zone. The pass went right into his arms. Warnke's boot increased the margin to 14-6 at halftime.

Another for Barnes
Vince Monaco pilfered a Gruner pass early in the third period, running the ball from the midfield to the 30. Two plays later Scott passed for 26 yards to Barnes, who was having a field day at the expense of the KHS secondary. After the home side failed to move the ball, much to the

Steelers Upset Browns

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

You're Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan. You're leading 7-0 in the third quarter, but it's second down with the ball on your own three-yard line.

What do you do?
Sure. You give it to Jimmy Brown.

Well, you, Ryan, Brown and Coach Blanton Collier agree.

So does Pittsburgh linebacker Bob Schmitz, who diagnosed the pitch-out. Brown to the ground for a safety that propelled the Steelers to a 9-7 victory over Cleveland Sunday in the top upset on the National Football League program.

"Ryan had one chance to call the play," said Collier. "I think it was called right. You should be able to execute a play anywhere on the field."

"I just got trapped in the end zone," said Brown, "that was all."

That was all for Cleveland. Pittsburgh took it from there, and scored the clinching touchdown in the fourth quarter on a nine-yard pass to Gary Ballman, a reserve receiver scoring his first touchdown in two years of NFL play.

Tied for First
The loss dropped the Browns into a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference with the New York Giants, who brought their record to 7-2 as Y. A. Tittle passed for three touchdowns in an easy 42-14 triumph over Philadelphia.

Green Bay and Chicago, meanwhile, remained in a tie for the Western Division lead with 8-1 records. The whole issue may be settled when the two teams meet Sunday in Chicago.

The Packers broke a 7-7 tie in the second half as John Roach passed for two of his three touchdowns, passes and a 28-7 victory over Minnesota. The Bears ran into even more difficulty, edging Los Angeles 6-0 on two field goals by Roger LeClerc.

St. Louis rode three touchdown passes by Charley Johnson to a 24-20 victory over Washington, San Francisco's Lamar McHan hit for three scoring strikes in a 31-24 triumph over Dallas and Jim Martin's field goal proved the difference as Baltimore edged Detroit 24-21.

In the American League, San Diego edged Boston 7-6 and Houston defeated New York 31-27. Buffalo beat Denver 27-17 Saturday night.

chagrin of the more than 1,000 fans, the Middies marched 60 yards in 13 plays for their final score. They had that precious smell of victory close at hand and weren't about to flub it.

It was the Scott to Barnes combination once again which scored the TD. Bob threw, Bill caught and six points went up on the scoreboard. This play covered 19 yards.

Kingston had one last gasp in the fourth quarter, moving to the MHS four before losing the pigskin on downs. They were streaking downfield again when the game ended and the Middie fans, who braved the elements to make the trip, were overjoyed with the results.

Both clubs are idle until Thanksgiving Day. The KHS square will host Newburgh Free Academy while Middletown is listed to engage Port Jervis at Wilson Field.

Long Distance Title

Won by Toronto Runner

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Dan Shaughnessy of the Toronto Olympic Club has won the Amateur Athletic Union's National Junior 20-Kilometer (12½-mile) run.

Competing in a slight drizzle Sunday Shaughnessy covered the distance in one hour, 44 minutes and 30 seconds. Ralph Buschman of the Spartan Athletic Club of Andover, Mass., was second.

INCOMPLETED PASS—Official Dick White-ell has just ruled an attempted pass by Middletown incomplete, despite the frantic efforts of the Middie receiver to hold the pigskin. However, the Middies completed four passes for touchdowns as they walloped Kingston, 26-6, Saturday at Dietz Stadium. (Freeman photo).

NY-Penn Admits Binghamton

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP)—Binghamton now is a member of the Class A New York-Penn Baseball League.

Representatives of the other five league teams voted unanimously at a special meeting Sunday to admit Binghamton as a replacement for Erie, Pa.

Binghamton dropped out of the Class AA Eastern League after its working agreement with Kansas City was canceled by the Athletics following the close of the 1963 season.

The Milwaukee Braves announced last week they had signed a working agreement with Binghamton.

Besides Binghamton, the NYP league consists of Geneva, Batavia, Jamestown, Auburn and Wellsville.

Vince McNamara, league president, reported that a representative of Olean called during the two-hour meeting and made a "firm request for re-entry" into the league by that city.

Representatives of Oneonta, Corning and the Herkimer-Utica area had already applied for membership, he said.

Erie also would be considered if it could come in under new administration, McNamara said.

The 1963 Erie team finished in the cellar, was the only league franchise with a financial deficit, and lost its working agreement with Minnesota after the end of the season.

Want Ad Starts

Youth On Tour

An 18-year-old Ann Arbor student has just returned from a 6,000 mile "insight-seeing" trip through the western and southern United States. Bruce Cohen said he wanted "to see and learn as much about life as I could before entering college. He started his trip with a want ad in the Ann Arbor
News in which he looked for company. He hitchhiked most of the way and says he has gained some knowledge from every person he met.
